W. S. S. DRIVE OFFICIALLY CLOSED WITH BIG DINNER

Just a Little Short of a Million Was in Report—Speakers Agreed That We Have Ahead of Us a Long Continued War—Everyone Present Agreed to Stick to the Work the Rest of the Year.

The War Savings drive that has been carried on since June 22 in this county with great success was officially closed last night.

City Chairman DeWitt announced that soliciting would go on to the end of the year, but there would be no active work during the period of any other drive that comes on.

Over three hundred men and women were gathered at the tables in the Y. M. C. A. at the feast given in compliment of the workers by County Chairman Brinnier.

Figures given out Friday as added pledges (including Monday's returns from organized sources.)

Monday, July 8, $811,835.00
Mayor Canfield, Ward 1, 16,900.00
Immanuel Church, 280.00
Captain Egan, 200.00
Daughters of Isabella, 85.00

Total W. S. S. Drive, $830,100.00

The thousand dollar recruits announced were:

Mrs. Minnie E. Darling.
Mrs. Mary Roberts and family.
Mrs. Barbara Drautz.
Mrs. Seth Staples.
Joseph Block.

Robert Rodie.

"Wars are won by soldiers," said Chairman Brinnier, when he rose to open the speaking at the dinner, at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night. "By men in the army. Though they are somewhat under the direction of officials, the men who handle the guns win the war. And so it was in this campaign. Then men and women in the ranks who worked shoulder to shoulder won the big drive. Now that we have got the pledges all in, we find that they amount to over $800,000. In this county with its population of 65,000 we have secured 28,000 pledges. Did you ever hear of anything better being carried out here. We have obtained more individual pledges than in any previous drive. And we haven't got in all the people coming to us either. Two persons walked into my office today and offered their pledges. Others are coming along and volunteering to pledge what they can afford. The success has been marvelous. And to the many hundreds of privates in the ranks of the U. S. War Savings army in Ulster is due great credit. As chairman I congratulate you, in behalf of the government I thank you."

Major J. G. Van Etten, called on by Chairman Brinnier, responded with one of the best speeches this jurist has made this year.

The new title, he said, confused him as it was the first time he had heard himself addressed by it, but he supposed that it is the duty of everyone of us to meekly bow to the power that be. In time of war we can do nothing else. We should be thankful we live under a democratic government. Never before had any people in history covering a period of 2,000 years been called on to "analyze and consider the form of government under which they live as we have under the present conditions."

In Austria many of certain races are opposed to that form of government. Many thousands, who, in the beginning had surrendered to the Allies, are now fighting for the liberties of the people in Russia. It is just this form of government of ours, he said, which in time of great stress, can meet a crisis and go through with it. In the beginning of the war we had available for export only seven million bushels of wheat. The Allies demanded 225,000,000. It is the spirit of our people that performed this miracle without harm to ourselves, which saved the day. The American people realize that no matter what it may cost, this issue must be fought to the end, and we fought to the end. With our Allies we are going to see this thing through to the finish. Never again will any of the world's peoples be asked to confront another war like this. The nations of the earth will not permit any other nation or nations yet prepared to carry on such a war against the world. Speaking directly of what the war savings men and women had done he said that they do not need thanks. They do not ask it. They may in many cases have made sacrifices, but all through the war "all of us will be called on to continue making sacrifices and greater sacrifices than ever, and yet our sacrifices at home do not compare with the sacrifices made by our boys at the front. They are only doing their duty. We are only doing our duty." The judge evoked large applause. His speech left it to be inferred that it is his opinion that we have a long war ahead of us.

F. R. Powley of the Y. M. C. A., who was introduced as one of those who had been largely the instrument of the success of this drive, renounced that position. He said he had done little but was always glad to do all he can to help the government in this war. Going back to the first Y. M. C. A. campaign for funds he reviewed the drives down to the present time. At that time when the Y. M. C. A. faced the proposition of raising $1,500 in one day it seemed to them that they had cut out more for them than could be done and were surprised when they found the result of that first day to be $1,500.

"We hadn't then learned to figure in millions," he said. This campaign he said, had given the people a new point of view. "We are coming to the time when we will be called on to give more than we think we can afford to give. And we will give it. We will make greater sacrifices than ever before and make them cheerfully." It was evident that Mr. Powley believes with Judge Van Etten that this war is not yet anywhere near over.

"The next campaign we have will be a drive for men instead of money. The work of the Y. M. C. A. in the war zone is growing larger with leaps and bounds. It is not only the ministers we need. We need chauffeurs, clerks, and other help in the Y. M. C. A. over there and they must be very soon recruited."

City Chairman DeWitt read the returns of the day from various towns the figures of which are shown in the following table. Mr. DeWitt said that this day (Monday) has been a perfect day, a complete day. It had rolled up over two hundred thousand dollars.

"We are surely going to victory in this war," he exclaimed. With the leadership of Woodrow Wilson it could not be otherwise. He regards Wilson's Fourth of July address as ranking with Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address.

Pastor Schroeder, of the Immanuel Church, came to the meeting and reported as the result of the drive by the teams of his own church the gathering of $620, which is regarded by the leaders of the drive as an excellent showing for one of the city churches. He said that his people had started this drive before the campaign in the county began. They had taken it up as a matter of interest. There was no intent to advertise the church as had been charged. No one had for a moment expected to be called into a campaign. His reply was accepted as a sufficient answer to that charge, which he called unfair.

John E. Mahar, of the Prudential, and E. R. Alford, of the Metropolitan Insurance Companies, answered for the work their agents had done. Mr. Mahar thought that all workers in the drive should be kept at it until December 31. "Pledge cards are being loaded on to our agents," he added, saying that the agents would keep at it without a let up. "That is what they are expected to do," said Chairman Brinnier. Mr. Alford said that the insurance agents deserved lots of credit for they were making personal sacrifices of money in doing this work just as much as other people. They lose one or two days a week and it comes out of their individuality. But he promised that with them there would be no let up until all the stamps are cleaned up.

Mr. DeWitt assured the gentlemen and ladies around the board that this drive would keep on, though as far as organized effort is concerned, it closed last night. "We will not interfere with other drives to come," he added.

William J. Turck, the chief of the big team of all drives, shipbuilders, said that this is "only spading the ground for the crops that are to come in eventually in support of the war." This took the breath away from any who had in mind the big things he had done in all these drives. If it is only "spading," what will be given up then people when it comes to "harrowing, cleaning and grinding?"

With a few remarks of thanks and his personal blessing bestowed on his army, Chairman Brinnier closed the dinner and the drive and was voted thanks with a rising vote by the three hundred people assembled at the two long tables, for the dinner he had given them.

NEW YORK PAPER BOUGHT FOR FOE

Is Charge Made By Federal Authorities Who Hold American Publishers of "Evening Mail" as Agent of Bernstorff in Transaction.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 9.—Federal authorities refused to say there would be further arrests today in connection with the arrest of Dr. Edward Rumely, vice-president and secretary of the Mail and Express Company, publishers of the Evening Mail, on a charge of perjury in a report to alien property custodian A. Mitchell Palmer, which alleges Dr. Rumely bought the newspaper from Henry L. Stoddard for the German Imperial Government.

Dr. Rumely, who spent the night in the Tombs upon the failure to furnish $100,000 bail, will be arraigned before Commissioner Hitchcock today.

According to government officials, Dr. Rumely bought the Evening Mail for the German government with funds supplied by Count Von Bernstorff and Capt. Heinrich S. Albert, paymaster of the German Embassy.

The sources of the funds, it is alleged, were concealed by a clever system of note transfers, and the total paid by the German Imperial Government for the newspaper will amount to $1,361,000.

This includes payments to cover financial losses of the Mail since the original purchase, June 1, 1915. The money used for the purchase of the newspaper, it is charged, was derived from the sale of German war bonds in this country.

Henry C. Stoddard, former owner of the Mail, and who is still a heavy bond holder, was absolved from knowledge of the sale. He announced that the bond holders of the newspaper would immediately step in and assume control of the property, with the consent of the government officials.

Dr. Rumely is surely going to victory in this war," he exclaimed. With the leadership of Woodrow Wilson it could not be otherwise. He regards Wilson's Fourth of July address as ranking with Lincoln's famous Gettysburg address.

W. S. S. DRIVE OFFICIALLY CLOSED WITH BIG DINNER

Just a Little Short of a Million Was in Report—Speakers Agreed That We Have Ahead of Us a Long Continued War—Everyone Present Agreed to Stick to the Work the Rest of the Year.

The War Savings drive that has been carried on since June 22 in this county with great success was officially closed last night.

City Chairman DeWitt announced that soliciting would go on to the end of the year, but there would be no active work during the period of any other drive that comes on.

Over three hundred men and women were gathered at the tables in the Y. M. C. A. at the feast given in compliment of the workers by County Chairman Brinnier.

Figures given out Friday as audited pledges (including Monday's returns from organized sources.)

Monday, July 8.....	$811,835.00
Mayor Canfield, Ward 1.....	16,900.00
Immanuel Church.....	250.00
Captain Egan.....	200.00
Daughters of Isabella.....	$55.00
Total W. S. S. Drive.....	$830,100.00

The thousand dollar recruits announced were:

Mrs. Minnie E. Darling.
Mrs. Mary Roberts and family.
Mrs. Barbara Drautz.
Mrs. Seth Staples.
Joseph Block.
Robert Rodie.

"Wars are won by soldiers," said Chairman Brinnier, when he rose to open the speaking at the dinner. "By men in the army. Though they are somewhat under the direction of officials, the men who handle the guns win the war. And so it was in this campaign. Then men and women in the ranks who worked shoulder to shoulder won the big drive. Now that we have got the pledges all in, we had that they amount to over $830,000. In this county with its population of 60,000 we have secured 28,000 pledges. Did you ever hear of anything better being carried out here? We have obtained more individual pledges than in any previous drive. And we haven't got in all that is coming to us either. Two persons walked into my office today and offered their pledges. Others are coming along and volunteering to pledge what they can afford. The success has been marvelous. And to the many hundreds of privates in the ranks of the U. S. War Savings army in Ulster is due great credit. As chairman I congratulate you in behalf of the government. I thank you."

"Major" J. G. Van Etten, called on by Chairman Brinnier, responded with one of the best speeches this jurist has made this year.

The new title, he said, confused him as it was the first time he had heard himself addressed by it, but he supposed that it is the duty of everyone of us to meekly bow to the powers that be. In time of war we can do nothing else. We should be thankful we live under a democratic government. Never before had any people in history covering a period of 2,000 years been called on to "analyze and consider the form of government under which they live as we have under the present conditions."

In Austria many of certain races are opposed to that form of government. Many thousands who, in the beginning had surrendered to the Allies, are now fighting for the liberties of the people in Russia. It is just this form of government of ours, he said, which in time of great stress can meet a crisis and go through with it. In the beginning of the war we had available for export only seventy million bushels of wheat. The Allies demanded 225,000,000. It is the spirit of our people that performed the miracle of exporting 225,000,000 bushels without harm to ourselves, which saved the day. The American people realize that no matter what it may cost, this issue must be fought to the end, and we have fought to the end. With our Allies we are going to see this thing through to the finish. Never again will any of the world's peoples be asked to confront another war like this. The nations of the earth will not permit any other nation or nations yet prepared to carry on such a war against the world. Speaking directly of what the war savings men and women had done he said that they do not need thanks. They do not ask it. They may in many cases have made sacrifices, but all through the war "all of us will be called on to continue making sacrifices and great sacrifices than ever, and yet our sacrifices at home do not compare with the sacrifices made by our boys at the front. They are only doing their duty." The judge evoked large applause. His speech left it to be inferred that it is his opinion that we have a long war ahead of us.

F. R. Powley of the Y. M. C. A. who was introduced as one of those who had been largely the instrument of the success of this drive, recounted that position. He said he had done little but was always glad to do all he can to help the government in this war. Going back to the first Y. M. C. A. campaign for funds

Is Charge Made By Federal Authorities Who Hold American Publishers of "Evening Mail" as Agent of Bernstorff in Transaction.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 9.—Federal authorities refused to say there would be further arrests today in connection with the arrest of Dr. Edward Rumely, vice-president and secretary of the Mail and Express Company, publishers of the Evening Mail, on a charge of perjury in a report to alien property custodian A. Mitchell Palmer, which alleges Dr. Rumely bought the newspaper from Henry L. Stoddard for the German Imperial Government.

Dr. Rumely, who spent the night in the Tombs upon the failure to furnish $100,000 bail, will be arraigned before Commissioner Mitchell today.

According to government officials, Dr. Rumely bought the Evening Mail for the German government with funds supplied by Count Von Bernstorff and Capt. Heinrich S. Albert, paymaster of the German Embassy.

The sources of the funds, it is alleged, were concealed by a clever system of note transfers, and the total paid by the German Imperial Government for the newspaper will amount to $1,361,900.

This includes payments to cover financial losses of the Mail since the original purchase, June 1, 1915. The money used for the purchase of the newspaper, it is charged, was derived from the sale of German war bonds in this country.

Henry C. Stoddard, former owner of the Mail, and who is still a heavy bond holder, was absolved from knowledge of the sale. He announced that the bond holders of the newspaper would immediately step in and assume control of the property, with the consent of the government officials.

FIFTY BELIEVED DEAD IN TENNESSEE WRECK

Fire Follows Crash of Two Fast Trains Out of Memphis—Hospitals Filled with Victims, Many Negroes.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Nashville, Tenn., July 9.—The worst disaster in the history of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway occurred this morning at 7:15 o'clock when passenger train Number 1 from Memphis and St. Louis and passenger train Number 4, bound from Memphis, collided near Nashville and Belle Meade Park, on Dutchman's Grade, destroying both engines and demolishing six coaches, crowded with passengers.

Early reports from the collision and from the various hospitals indicated the casualties would be large. Thirty-five dead and 75 injured are the figures established by a hurried estimate. Many of the casualties were among negroes. Few women and children were injured. The Pullman cars escaped serious damage.

The cause of the collision has not yet been established.

Though no official list of the dead and injured had been compiled at noon, it is estimated on good authority that there are at least fifty dead and the Nashville hospitals are packed to capacity with the injured. A large number of the dead are negroes.

Reports from the scene are that the express car plowed its way almost the entire length of a coach filled with negroes.

No official cause has been issued. A report was circulated that the out-bound train failed to obey orders to take a siding at a way station and await the incoming train. Train Number 1 left Nashville on schedule time but Number 4 was slightly delayed. It is said that all members of both engine crews are dead and many others of the train crews dead and injured.

Fire followed the crash and two cars were totally destroyed by the flames. The task of removing the dead and injured from the wreckage will consume the entire day. It will be night before a complete and official list of the dead and injured can be had. A number of victims died on their way to the hospitals and after their arrival there. Rescuers worked heroically to extricate the injured. Ambulances bringing doctors and nurses from all over Nashville were soon at the wreck.

Nashville, Tenn., July 9.—Twenty-two to fifty people are reported killed and ninety injured in a railroad wreck in a suburb of Nashville.

Passenger trains number 4 and 1 on the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis line were in collision near Belle Meade Park. Both are fast trains.

The trains in collision were an east-bound train from Memphis and St. Louis, and a Nashville to Memphis. The engines and two baggage cars were completely demolished. One combination coach in the Nashville to Memphis local, filled with whites and negroes was torn from end to end and several coaches were telescoped, the passengers being cut out of the wreckage with much difficulty.

Six passenger coaches were splintered and two cars on the through train were burned. Every doctor and nurse in the city were rushed to the wreck and all the available ambulances followed.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN SOLDIERS DESERT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, July 9.—More than 300,000 Austro-Hungarian soldiers have deserted since the beginning of the war, according to a statement made by an Austrian deputy from Temesvar, and confirmed by the Austro-Hungarian supreme command.

One hundred and fifty thousand, for the most part Czechs, gave themselves up voluntarily at the first opportunity to the Russians, Serbians, Rumanians and Italians.

Almost 150,000 Hungarian soldiers escaped through Rumania between August, 1914, and June, 1916.

In his report, Dr. Ugron said: "Every time that a unit of our army, which is constituted of non-Germans, finds itself face to face with the enemy it surrenders. The high command have endeavored to improve matters, and resorted to the strictest disciplinary measures, but without the slightest avail."

"Shame on all traitors to the national cause," is the concluding passage of Dr. Ugron's exposure of conditions in the Austrian army.

Argentine Envoy Returns.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 9.—Dr. Rumolo S. Naon, the Argentine Ambassador, returned to Washington today, accompanied by a diplomatic mission, the personnel of which was not disclosed. The party reached an American port yesterday on an Argentine dreadnought. Dr. Naon left Washington six months ago to confer with officials of his home government and it is expected he will call on Secretary Lansing during the day and outline the result of those conferences. It is understood the ambassador will endeavor to secure a loan of $40,000,000 from the American government. Until he had opportunity to familiarize himself with conditions the ambassador declined to meet interviewers.

Intrigue in Austria.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Geneva, July 9.—Following a stealthy German campaign against Emperor Charles of Austria and the Emperor's Austrian deputies are again demanding the resignation of the Von Seydlitz ministry, according to information received here today.

The present campaign against the Von Seydlitz cabinet is attributed to reports that the Emperor is said to have forbidden the use of gas shells in behalf of Italian prisoners. She has two brothers in the Italian army. The Emperor is accused of conducting secret diplomatic relations with the Allies.

LIE PASSED AT O'LEARY TRIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 9.—The trial of John J. O'Leary, charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in aiding his brother, Jeremiah, to escape from New York, was livened up today by a spirited clash between Col. Thomas B. Felder, counsel for O'Leary, and Assistant United States Attorney Earl Barnes, arising over the certification of a check.

Felder declined to accede on behalf of O'Leary that the check in question was drawn and paid, and made the assertion that O'Leary's office was raided by federal agents and papers and books stolen.

Attorney Barnes denied that the office had been raided, declaring the statement was a falsehood, whereupon Col. Felder exclaimed: "You are a liar."

He advanced as he spoke and shook his first under Attorney Barnes's nose. The altercation was quieted by Judge Hand, who promptly brought the court to order.

Madame De Victoria, a native German, who is being held for alleged seditious activity, was brought into court to give witnesses the opportunity to identify her as a woman frequently seen in Jeremiah O'Leary's offices, in connection with attempts by the government to connect Jeremiah with treasonable actions.

Identification of minutes of the grand jury and telegrams between John and Jeremiah O'Leary consumed the early hours of the trial.

WAR AT A GLANCE

The French are steadily wiping out the gains which the Germans made in their latest offensive between Montdidier and the Aisne river, which began on June 9, but which collapsed shortly afterwards. Another slice of German-held territory northwest of Compiègne was taken by the French early today when they attacked over a front of 2½ miles, advancing to a depth of 1,800 yards, capturing two fortified farms and 450 prisoners.

This was only one of a series of successful operations that the French have been carrying out in that area during the past fortnight.

Not only are the German battle lines being pushed back, but the French position at Compiègne is being steadily strengthened.

On the British front the chief development was a continuation of the heavy German cannonading in the Somme sector.

In was in this district that the Australians have been slowly advancing their lines, following the initial gain on the Fourth of July, when Australian and American troops threw the Germans out of Hamel and adjacent points of wooded ground. If, as some European war critics believe, the next German effort will be to push along the Somme valley toward Abbeville, the Teutons will find their way blocked by very strong positions, thanks to the successes of the British colonials during the fighting of the past week.

There have been no further decisive developments on the Italian front, but much interest is now being directed towards the Balkan theater of war, where the allies have organized some strong offensive operations.

The extent which the allies' campaign in Macedonia will assume is still a matter of doubt. The initial attacks were delivered in southern Albania, where Italians and French are holding the allied line. The Austrian war office admits a withdrawal "from some advanced positions" in that zone and apparently the allies are preparing to widen the scope of their enterprise.

The long period of inactivity on the Balkan front has been a puzzle often commented upon by British war critics.

As a result of the turbulent conditions in Russia it is impossible to tell what will be the outcome of the counter-revolutionary movement. It is apparently growing in volume, especially in the Moscow district and in Ukraine, where heavy forces of anti-German groups are said to be marching upon Kiev.

NORMAL ALONG AMERICAN FRONTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 9.—There have been no fresh developments at the points occupied by American troops. General Pershing reports in his communique of July 8, made public by the war department this afternoon. Brisk artillery action on the Picardy front on July 4 and 5 is noted. In the Mulhouse sector on July 5, German aeroplanes were unusually active, the communique adds.

Americans Decorated.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 9.—Six volunteer American ambulance drivers and nurses have been decorated with the military medal for bravery. They are attached to the unit over which Mrs. Margaret Gibson is administrator, and through their courage many lives were saved when a "Vaad" camp was bombed by German aeroplanes. Five have been cited for racing three ambulances to a burning ammunition dump that had been fired by Boche aviators, and removing the wounded.

53 TROUT IN WEEK.

New Yorker Describes Fishing Trip Along Esopus.

It was quite some time ago that I inquired through your columns as to the prospects of getting some trout on the Esopus, says John Flynn in the New York Sunday Sun.

I have seen many inquiries quite recently from anxious followers of the trout stream that love the bounding spray and the haunts of the second king of freshwater fish. I feel that it is my duty as a fresh water fisherman at home and abroad for the last twenty years to give all the information possible to my brother anglers regarding the oft asked questions: "Where can I get some trout fishing?" and "What will I need to take along." I will give a full and practical report of conditions on the Esopus.

First, for the man who wants an answer to his question as to where he can get some fishing, let me suggest the Esopus Creek, situated in Ulster county, and for the best fishing ground I would select any place between Phenicia and Coldbrook.

With reference to my own experience I will do my best to set forth as near as possible an account of my fishing luck.

Arriving at my destination about 6 o'clock, I met the proprietress of the Four Maples boarding house for fishermen, and let me say that if I could rename this place I would happily call it the "Fisherman's Rest."

I say so because I know from experience how to appreciate a house of its sort.

Donning my fishing clothes, I proceeded to the stream, about 200 yards from the house, and selecting a few of my favorite flies I started to try my luck.

To make a long story short I might say that at 9 p. m. I had 7 nice trout to take back for next morning's breakfast.

List of Killing Flies.

For the rest of the week I had a daily average of 12 to 13 trout each day, but let me mention not all these were caught on the fly, fully 70 per cent were, and the remainder on a very small spoon, which I found to be an excellent lure for the native brown trout at nightfall.

I finished my fishing trip on Sunday, June 23, and counting up my catch from the daily totals I found I had landed 83 in all, which I might honestly say was an entirely satisfactory week's holiday.

I found that the killing flies were as follows: the Cowdun, Alder, Bear or Kill (male and female), Black Gnat, Alexander, Queen of the Waters, Wickham's Fancy, Green and Orange Grouse, Brown Pinelined Grouse, Stone Fly, Golden Sedge, Brown and Purple Rail and White Moth (or Miller).

I only hope every fisherman will feel as pleased after a week's holiday on the Esopus as I have myself. I can also speak for my friends, Mr. Dorff and Mr. Boswell, as having enjoyed themselves, considering their short stay and climatic conditions.

I would like to add a few words as regards the number of trout which I found dead in the stream, including several large trout from 18 to 20 inches, and to be exact I would say that I found six in all.

I understand this is due to a chemical put in at Phenicia in order to purify the water or destroy some vegetable matter. I am sorry to state that in my opinion it has a double effect.

Examination of some of the smaller trout seems to show that the black snake also is responsible for the destruction of a number of trout. I am certain that a number of our fishermen will be disappointed to hear of the death of these fish, but there are still enough trout in the stream to satisfy all.

BLOOMINGTON.

Bloomington, July 8.—The Christian Endeavor leader for Sunday evening was Miss Della Castor and for next Sunday evening will be Miss Mildred DuBois. Topic, Lessons from Favorite Parables, Mark 4:1-8, 26-32.

Mrs. A. D. Relyea and little babe, Gordon, who have been been stopping with her husband's mother and sister for the past week returned to their home in Newburgh on Saturday.

The Ladies Missionary Society will hold their regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 at the parsonage. The ladies are all invited to attend.

Dr. Miller, who was stopping with Rev. A. A. Zabriskie and family for the week-end, preached an interesting sermon on Sunday morning, taking his text from St. John, the first chapter and the 42nd verse, "And He brought Him to Jesus." He also spoke on public evangelism, which all enjoyed. He also sang beautifully the hymn, "Do Something for Jesus Today."

Mr. and Mrs. John Senning of Brooklyn, came up on the Fourth of July to spend a short time with Mr. and Mrs. J. Zueich.

Mrs. David Hasbrouck and daughter, Miss Grace, and mother, Mrs. M. Ostrander, of Jersey City, came up to their summer cottage Sunday and on Saturday of the past week Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ostrander and baby, William M. Ostrander, of Jersey City, came to spend some time here at their summer cottage.

The Ladies Aid Society held their meeting on Wednesday afternoon of last week at the parsonage and decided to hold their bazaar of fancy and useful articles on August 14 unless the date not being satisfactory to all then it will be changed. So watch out if the date is changed or not.

Mr. Brown and Mrs. Paul Frank of Kingston, were visitors at the Sand Bar farm with Mr. and Mrs. Ira D. Bush on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bauer and little daughter, Mildred, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is spending a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Don.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of New York city, is up again for the summer and are stopping in one of Mrs. Rufus Lefever's cottages at Creek Locks.

Mr. and Mrs. Belsner and children of New York city, have come to their cottage for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Castor and son, Delancy, and little daughter, Christina of Binnewater, spent Sunday with Mrs. Castor's sister, Miss Alice Hess and mother, Mrs. Hess.

Miss Christina E. Hess of Kingston, spent Sunday with her sister and mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Galloway of Connecticut, were visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Galloway and family of Whiteport on Sunday.

The Bell Guild of Bloomington has decided to hold the musicale on July 27, instead of as previously announced on July 6. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, July 16, at the home of Mrs. Mary Porter, Creek Locks.

WEST ESOPUS.

West Esopus, July 8.—Wallace B. Phillips of Highland spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Johns.

Samuel Smith is doing a good job at repairing the large barn of Mr. Franklin near West Park.

Mrs. R. Smith has been quite ill the past week.

Mrs. J. O. Beaver spent the week end visiting with her son, J. H. Beaver.

Kenneth Krom, who was employed on the farm of E. B. Sheldon, went to the technical training school on Monday, and we all wish him much success.

Herman Freer lost another horse last week from glanders.

Beulah Kittle has returned to her home here for the summer, after attending the Y. W. C. A. student conference at Silver Bay on Lake George.

Several ladies from this place went to Margaretville on Wednesday afternoon to sew for the Red Cross.

Rev. Sloddard of Stamford conducted Episcopal service at the home of Richard Avery on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crook and daughter, Reta, former residents of this place, spent the week-end here.

The W. C. T. U. has solicited money to purchase wool for twenty pairs of socks for the soldiers. All knitters will now have a chance to get busy.

Mrs. Philip Langford and children have arrived at one of the Gould cottages for the summer.

RUMELY HELD FOR PERJURY ONLY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, July 9.—Dr. Edward Rumely, publisher of the New York Evening Mail was held under $35,000 bail today, when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hitchcock, on a charge of perjury in seeking to conceal, it is alleged, that he bought the Mail for the German Imperial government.

Dr. Rumely was held only on the perjury charge in connection with his report to enemy alien property custodian A. Mitchell Palmer. He was unable to furnish bail immediately and will be held until it is forthcoming.

BRITISH HARASS SUBMARINE BASES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
London, July 9.—Four German torpedo boats and four destroyers in the harbor at Zeebrugge were attacked by British aircraft, during one of a series of raids over Belgium, the Admiralty announced today.

Six German biplanes were downed. There was a spectacular sky action between three big British seaplanes and seven German aeroplanes, in which two of the latter were destroyed.

The text of the official announcement follows:

"From the Fourth of July until the 7th, seven tons of bombs were dropped upon the docks at Ostend, Zeebrugge and the Bruges docks. Direct hits were obtained upon a submarine shelter. Four hostile torpedo boats and four destroyers were attacked in the Zeebrugge harbor.

"Six hostile machines were brought down. All of ours returned safely. "There was a fight between three of our large seaplanes and seven hostile aeroplanes which lasted fifty-five minutes. Two of the German seaplanes were destroyed.

"Some of our machines were damaged but all returned safely."

TYPHOON SWEEPS ISLAND OF GUAM

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—Scores were injured and half the population made destitute when a typhoon swept Mirianne Island, Guam, on July 6, Captain Smith, of the navy, governor of Guam, informed the state department today.

The loss of life was small, according to the report, but the loss of government property both afloat and ashore, was heavy. Food was taken from the naval supplies to relieve the suffering, but there is still a serious shortage.

RE-AWAKENING IN STATE POLITICS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Albany, July 9.—Beginning tonight when the Democratic committee of forty-two meets at Syracuse, politics in the state will undergo a re-awakening.

Because of various Democratic dissensions which have sprung up, particularly in some of the counties of the southern tier, it is now problematical as to what the committee of forty-two, headed by former Senator T. Harvey Ferris of Utica, will be able to accomplish tonight. Generally speaking it is taken here by some capital politicians, as a foregone conclusion that the Democratic nominee for governor will be decided upon at the Syracuse meeting. It may be, they conclude, that no announcement of such action will be made, but that will not deter the naming of the man who will carry the Democratic gubernatorial banner. The framing of a platform will be given secondary consideration, it is believed.

With the Syracuse "pow-wow" out of the way, the Republicans will be given the center of the political stage for a while beginning July 18 with the Saratoga convention. In the meantime farmers who do not favor either Republican or Democratic candidates for governor, are invited to gather in New York July 19 by Mark DuBois of Poughkeepsie, now candidate for governor on a farmers' ticket.

Then comes the Single Tax party which has recently undergone rehabilitation. Followers of this party have announced it will assemble in Albany, July 20 and 21. The Democrats wind up the convention at Saratoga July 25.

GUARDSMEN BATTLE DRAFT EVADERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Heber Springs, Ark., July 9.—A machine gun battle is expected in this vicinity today if posses and Arkansas National Guardsmen, who are hunting a band of draft evaders at approximately thirty strong, that are known to be in the neighborhood. In a battle yesterday at the home of one of them, three men, one official and two of the band, were killed. The guardsmen, who were summoned after the deserters with their supporters fled, have established themselves with two machine guns at the Atkinson homestead, where the first fight occurred. They have discovered quantities of food, clothing and ammunition, showing that the resistors had prepared for a siege.

Spacious Los Angeles.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, July 9.—The city of Los Angeles covers more area than any other city in the United States, but its population is only about 600,000. City Engineer Hansen has just announced that the area is 362,044 square miles. "In other words," said Hansen, "Los Angeles is 44 miles long and 29 miles wide. There are 493.5 miles of paved streets and 742.42 miles of streets otherwise improved."

10,000 War Gardens.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Madison, Wis., July 9.—Ten thousand war gardens is the response this city has made to the call for greater food production. Of this number, believed to be the largest of any city in Wisconsin, 1,500 were assigned by the Association of Commerce. Thousands of bushels of potatoes and other vegetables are being grown to aid the nation's food supply.

Eight W. J. Bryans in Navy.

Des Moines, Ia. July 9.—William Jennings Bryan Butcher of Carroll, Iowa, enlisted at the local naval recruiting station, and when he passed it was brought out that he is the eighth "W. J. B." to enlist in the local naval office. "Bill No. 8" has been sent to Chicago to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station along with the other "W. J. B.s."

W. S. TO HANDLE O. AND W. FREIGHT

Effective next Monday all less carload shipments of outbound and inbound freight, which has been handled at the O. & W. freight house in this city will be received at or delivered from the freight house of the West Shore Railroad.

Some time ago The Freeman stated that there was rumor that the government would consolidate the handling of freight at the West Shore freight house, but at that time the rumor could not be confirmed.

MITCHEL'S BODY REACHES NEW YORK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 9.—The funeral party, including Mrs. Mitchell, and a military guard, met ex-Mayor Mitchell's body when it arrived on the Southern Express this morning. The casket was taken from its box and the American flag draped over it. Then it was placed in an automobile hearse, and accompanied by an escort of policemen, taken to Major Mitchell's late residence, where the body will remain until it is taken to the city hall tomorrow to lie in state until the funeral Thursday morning.

A small party of the former mayor's friends met the body at the railroad station.

Plans were completed today to give Major Mitchell the most impressive and spectacular funeral the city has witnessed since that of President Grant. More than ten thousand men of military and civil life, with a flying escort of twenty aeroplanes, are strewing the cortege with flowers from the air will pay final homage to the aviator.

Thousands of persons and many civic organizations are expected to pass the ex-mayor's coffin as it lies in state. At nine o'clock Thursday morning the body will be taken to St. Patrick's Cathedral, where a solemn high requiem mass will be celebrated.

SHIPPING PROGRAM.

Includes Huge Fleet of Giant Carriers.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 9.—Ninety-two transports of 12,000 tons each are a part of the shipping board's program, it was learned today. Actual construction has been started on a large number, and it is planned to have the last of them take the water a year from this fall.

They are being so constructed that they will be available as passenger ships and as giant merchantmen after the war.

Chairman Hurley of the shipping board, discussing the ship production at the White House today, was extremely optimistic. American ship yards are putting ships into the water faster than boilers can be secured, he asserted, and the average efficiency of the yards has been increased forty per cent.

"We are now manufacturing ships instead of building them," he declared.

Mrs. Hasbrouck Calls Meeting.

Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, chairman of the knitting and yarn committee of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, has called a meeting of all those volunteer workers who have consented to assist in the distribution of yarn from headquarters and the receiving of knitted garments returned at the same place. This meeting will take place tomorrow, Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock at the Red Cross Headquarters on Broadway.

Wood Shed Set on Fire.

An alarm of fire was turned in from Box No. 57 Pine Grove avenue and at 11 o'clock Monday evening to which the fire department responded. The fire was in a frame building used as a wood shed in the rear of No. 89 Prince street. The wood shed had been set on fire. It was destroyed. Two adjoining wood sheds were partially burned by the fire. The wood sheds were on the property of the Hutton estate.

83 TROUT IN WEEK.

New Yorker Describes Fishing Trip Along Esopus.

It was quite some time ago that I inquired through your columns as to the prospects of getting some trout on the Esopus, says John Flynn in the New York Sunday Sun.

I have seen many inquiries quite recently from anxious followers of the trout stream that love the bounding spray and the haunts of the second king of freshwater fish. I feel that it is my duty as a fresh water fisherman at home and abroad for the last twenty years to give all the information possible to my brother anglers regarding the oft asked questions: "Where can I get some trout fishing?" and "What will I need to take along." I will give a full and practical report of conditions on the Esopus:

First, for the man who wants an answer to his question as to where he can get some fishing, let me suggest the Esopus Creek, situated in Ulster county, and for the best fishing ground I would select any place between Phoenicia and Coldbrook.

With reference to my own experience I will do my best to set forth as clearly as possible an account of my fishing luck.

Arriving at my destination about 6 o'clock, I met the proprietress of the Four Maples boarding house for fishermen, and let me say that if I could rename this place I would happily call it the "Fisherman's Rest." I say so because I know from experience how to appreciate a house of its sort.

Donning my fishing clothes, I proceeded to the stream, about 200 yards from the house, and selecting a few of my favorite flies I started to try my luck.

To make a long story short I might say that at 9 p. m. I had 7 nice trout to take back for next morning's breakfast.

List of Killing Flies.

For the rest of the week I had a daily average of 12 to 13 trout each day, but let me mention not all these were caught on the fly, fully 70 per cent were, and the remainder on a very small spoon, which I found to be an excellent lure for the native brown trout at nightfall.

I finished my fishing trip on Sunday, June 23, and counting up my catch from the daily totals I found I had landed 83 in all, which I might honestly say was an entirely satisfactory week's holiday.

I found that the killing flies were as follows, the Cowdung, Alder, Beaver Kill (male and female), Black Gnat, Alexander, Queen of the Waters, Wickham's Fancy, Green and Orange Grouse, Brown Pinselfed Grouse, Stone Fly, Golden Seige, Brown and Purple Rail and White Moth (or Miller).

I only hope every fisherman will feel as pleased after a week's holiday on the Esopus as I have myself. I can also speak for my friends, Mr. Dorff and Mr. Boswell, as having enjoyed themselves, considering their short stay and climatic conditions.

I would like to add a few words as regards the number of trout which I found dead in the stream, including several large trout from 15 to 20 inches, and to be exact I would say that I found six in all.

I understand this is due to a chemical put in at Phoenicia in order to purify the water or destroy some vegetable matter. I am sorry to state that in my opinion it has a double effect.

Examination of some of the smaller trout seems to show that the black snake also is responsible for the destruction of a number of trout. I am certain that a number of our fishermen will be disappointed to hear of the death of these fish, but there are still enough trout in the stream to satisfy all.

CIVILIANS MUST NOT FIGHT.

Americans civilians at work with the army in France should have a care. If the battle comes upon them they must not fight, for it is a temptation, they should not lend a hand. They must not fight, for it they do and are captured they will not have the rights of prisoners of war and may be executed under recognized international understandings. The Judge Advocate General of the army has thus informed Y. M. C. A. workers at the front, declaring that if they or other civilians "should engage in actual combat they would subject themselves to the danger of being executed," the recognized principle being that "only soldiers have the right to engage in warfare."

In numerous instances civilians actually participating in the defense of besieged towns in modern times have been treated with lenity, but the rule holds nevertheless, and, according to a standard treatise by A. P. Higgins on the agreements of The Hague conferences, "men and squads of men not under strict discipline, not forming a part of an army or of a levy en masse at the approach of the invaders, who commit hostile acts with intermittent returns to their homes and vocations, divesting themselves of the appearance or character of soldiers, have no cause for complaint of an infringement of the laws of war if when they are caught they are denied belligerent rights and put to death." Our civilian war workers in France would be wise to keep this in mind and be guided accordingly.

SOLVING PRICE PROBLEMS.

We are proud of getting really into the game of war so much faster than the English did, and perhaps we have a just right to be, although we have profited by their mistakes and had the benefit of expert French and British advice. But in one thing the English have beaten us and may beat us to the end—the protection of the civilian public by the prevention of profiteering and keeping down the prices of necessities. If, like the English, we were getting most of our food from other countries and were threatened by hundreds of submarines, it may be doubted whether we should manage as well as they have done in the matter of maintaining prices at a level within reach of a war-burdened people. How do the English do it?

The question is once more suggested by the clothing prices just reported from Great Britain after four years of unparalleled war. A remarkable achievement has been put through by the British government in co-operation with the wool dealers, cloth manufacturers and clothing makers, by which $75,000,000 worth of clothing for men, youths and boys is to be placed on the market at what seems to us very low prices. Suits for men are to cost $16, with lower prices for youths and boys, while overcoats are to range from $15.50 downwards—all these at retail. Though clothing will be thus provided for only about five million people, it will fix the price of all clothing of the same grade. We have here a large part of the answer to the question, how do the English do it? The government steps in, stops profiteering and works out a successful scheme. The American government will have to do likewise in order to get similar results. The obvious difficulty is that there is a limit to what any government can undertake and successfully achieve while preoccupied with the greatest war of history.

THE SLACKER HOUSEHOLD.

A New York housewife complains that she has "jeopardized the peace" of her home by attempting to follow the instructions of the food administration. In the matter of sugar and flour alone, even before beginning to reduce the quantity of meat and butter, she "found it impossible to keep a cook and each successor came from a place where there were no restrictions." Even the employment bureau "warned" her that it could not supply her with help if she "continued to Hooverize." Going to her friends with her troubles, she "found that they were very lax in following the rules laid down for housekeepers" and therefore concluded that she stood "apart" in her "very conscientious endeavor to obey the letter of the law."

Yet restaurants are being fined for failure to obey. Slacker households escape because as yet they are not investigated, but the rules made necessary by war apply to them also. The cook unwilling to Hooverize should be promptly discharged and the discouraging employment bureau should be reported and put on the suspected list of possible German agencies. The servant problem is more serious now than ever, of course, but unless we are willing to suffer we shall neither win nor deserve to win this war. Slackers in the household deserve far less sympathy than the young man who tries to escape military duty because they are called upon to make a very small sacrifice compared with the risk of life itself expected of him.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"What is this camouflage?" "The art of making nature's face seem what it is not." "Um. My wife's complexion is a rare bit of camouflage."—Judge.

"Well, gentlemen, if you will have another toast, let's drink to the man who knows when to stop." "Sure! Just to show that the absent are not (hic) forgotten."—Boston Transcript.

"Don't you find geography difficult?" "We don't study geography now," replied the boy. "Teacher says we might as well hold off for awhile and wait for the map to settle."—Washington Star.

"Snuggles is worrying because his baby girl is three years old and has not begun to talk yet." "He needn't worry. She'll make up for it later." "That's what's worrying him."—Buffalo Express.

"Since you worked your examples so nicely," said the pretty teacher, "I shall give you a kiss." "Teacher, I didn't know there was to be a reward," responded the honest urchin. "It's only fair to tell you that my big brother did them sums."—Life.

"Your hard-luck story is one of the most affecting I have ever heard." "Thanks, boss. Then you'll give me a small donation?" "No." "But you just said—" "Exactly. A man with your imagination and gift of narration ought to be able to make a great deal of money as promoter. There is no earthly excuse."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

FISHERMAN'S PATIENCE.

Ellis Perrot Bliester, the fly-fishing expert of Pike county, said at a banquet at the Delaware Water Gap: "The prime virtue of a good angler is patience. No man or boy ever developed into a successful fisherman who hadn't at least twice the patience of Job."

"There's a boy in Shawnee who is going to make a champion one of these days. I saw him fishing the other afternoon on the bank of a creek and I said to him: 'What are you fishing for, son?' 'Snigs,' said he. 'What are snigs?' said I. 'I dunno,' said the boy. 'I ain't never caught none yet.'—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Weak Comfort.

Charles Edward Russell of the American Commission to Russia said at a banquet of New York Socialists: "I confess that some of the Russian news looks rather dubious."

"Cheer up, Charlie!" shouted an optimistic Socialist from the further end of the table. "Never despair, old man! Somewhere behind the clouds the sun is shining."

A Place for Everything.

"No, my husband never talks his business affairs over with me. One of his favorite expressions is that he always leaves his business at the office."

"That's the way with my husband. He always leaves his business at the office, too. Now there's just one thing I wish he would learn to do."

Interesting Discovery.
The Roman occupation of England was recalled by a discovery made a few days ago at Staibridge, Dorset. Working in his garden, a man dug up a skeleton. Examining it he found it to be in a perfect state of preservation, the teeth being quite sound. In the mouth was a coin bearing the inscription of Caesar Augustus.

GERMAN WANTS PEACE.

But Would Negotiate Separately at Brest-Litovsk.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Copenhagen, July 9.—"The time is ripe to discuss peace on the basis of reasonable disarmament through separate negotiations instead of at a round table," says George Bernhardt in the Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, said a dispatch from that city today. Bernhardt's terms call for a restoration of Germany's colonies, a mercantile agreement with England, the restoration of occupied districts in Persia and recognition of the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty between the Russian Bolsheviks and the Central Powers. Bernhardt says he would agree to President Wilson's policy of self-determination "if applied to India and Ireland."

TEUTONS FOILED.

In Efforts to Plunder Granary of Ukraine.

Washington, July 9.—Amid the many easy triumphs which enabled the Teutons this year to slice great sections from the map of Russia, like coupons from a bond, Germany and Austria both suffered one frightful disappointment. And the pang was in the weakest part of their political anatomy—the collective stomach of their peoples.

The grain of which the two empires expected to plunder the Ukraine was not there—at least, there was so little of it that Germany had to lower her bread ration while Austria continued to starve a bit more rapidly. The supplies had been burned.

These fires were lighted, with a kind of poetic justice, by the remnants of the Czechoslovak army—deserters from the Austrian ranks and inveterate enemies of the Hapsburgs, who had been reconstituted into Russian military units under the Kerensky regime and fought so splendidly for Russia before the whole nation collapsed from the gnawing of the Bolsheviks.

Until March of this year this Czechoslovak army had been stationed in the Ukraine—50,000 men in line and 50,000 more in reserve. Then Bolshevik representatives dissolved their organization and took away their arms, though about 20,000 refused to part with their weapons. They were promised that they would be allowed to leave Russia for the United States, but, of course, no means of transportation was provided. And so they remained where they were.

EXPRESS COMPANIES LOST.

Show Big Deficit for Month of January, Says I. C. C.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 9.—Returns of net operating income filed by seven express companies with the Interstate Commerce Commission today show that they operated at a loss of $1,637,657 for January, 1918. This is a loss of $1,525,934 over figures for the month of January, 1917, when the net deficit was $112,123.

The Southern Express Company, with a net operating income of $89,430 for January, 1918, was the only company not to show a loss. The deficits of the other companies for January, 1918, as compared with January of the previous year, are as follows:

Adams Express Company, $693,688 against $197,518; American Express Company, $752,645 against $18,619; Canadian Express Company, $32,119 against $17,826; Great Northern Express Company, $11,665 against $16,289; Northern Express Company, $28,192 against $1,195; Wells Fargo Company, $203,395 against $5,524; and Western Express Company, $5,679 against $5,783.

Irish Soldier Being Tried.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 9.—The prosecution closed at noon in the case of Corporal Joseph Dowling, former Irish soldier, who was recently landed on the Irish coast from a German submarine. Dowling was accused of joining a force hostile to England while a prisoner of war in Germany; of endeavoring to induce others to join and that he was implicated in an attempt to land hostile forces in Ireland. Dowling had nothing to say in his own defense, although he had pleaded not guilty.

Austrian Command Unchanged.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 9.—Vienna papers are denying there has been any change in the Austria high command, according to a wireless dispatch from Rome, received at the Italian Embassy today. The denials are being made in a dispatch says, to offset the discontent over the failure of their offensive, and the report that the Germans were to assume command. The paper also spread unfounded stories of rioting in Italy.

Allies in Albania.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Vienna, via London, July 9.—Allied pressure against the Austro-Hungarian front in southern Albania (Balkan theater of war) continues, the war office announced today.

The French gained more ground on the upper Devoli. There has been heavy pressure on the Vojussa river and southwest of Berat.

Don't Be a Delinquent.

As announced in Monday's Freeman the time limit for mailing the questionnaires is up, and those registrants of last month, who have failed to fill out their questionnaires and mail them to their local board must do so at once or they will be listed as delinquents.

The Hurdy Gurdy Man.

Talking about the non-productive occupations, some person asked Monday night if the hurdy gurdy man was classed as "non-productive." Be that as it may, the hurdy gurdy man has not been seen lately. Perhaps he has changed for "productive" employment.

CHIC SPORT FROCK

Sleeveless Jacket May Be Separate Coat or Part of Dress.

For Summer Wear, Wool Jersey Cloth, Velvet or Light Weight Velours Is Suitable.

The sleeveless jacket shown in the sketch may either be a separate coat, as so many of them are, or it may be made to form part of the dress with which it is worn. If meant as a separate summer sport jacket, wool jersey cloth, velvet or light weight velours may be selected for it. It may be made a part of the dress, of which it is an accompaniment, by using a checked gingham or voile for the major portions of the garment and making jacket and cuffs of plain color linen or crash. As here shown, the dress is a very simple, plain affair, waist and skirt being joined by an inch-and-a-half or two-inch wide plain belt at the normal waistline.

With the addition of the sleeveless jacket, however, the garment becomes a very chic sport frock. The little coat is cut quite plain in front, and the back is centered by a wide plain panel. The belt is set under this back panel, brought around to the front, crossed and then drawn to the back again, where it is looped to form a sort of sash. The collar arrangement of this jacket is worth observing. It really distinguishes the entire garment. It does more than this, however; it holds the jacket, of which it is a part, properly in place, and gives the neck a trig, ship-shape look that is not possible with the open type of jacket.

A review of fall fabrics divulges the fact that plaids are to be very much in evidence next season, and the frock here shown might be very well developed in plaid worsted and plain color self fabric or velveteen, as a school frock for a girl of high school or college age.

However, fall is some months distant as yet, and for present wear the materials previously suggested, voile or gingham and plain color linen or crash, would be very smart and serviceable.

Nothing Out of Fashion Now.

Can anyone tell exactly what, if anything, is out of fashion at the present moment? In times gone by materials, trimmings and one thing and another were laid away as out of fashion, and from time to time various articles were brought forth from old chests that had hardly seen daylight for almost a score of years. But if there is any one thing out of the mode just now it fails to suggest itself to our memory.

Read bags, although in use for some time, are quite as good as ever, but are too expensive to ever become overpopular, and now come some of the exquisitely embroidered bags quaint and beautiful. On frocks we see quilting and tiny quilted edges. Cording and any other form of decoration known to our grandmothers has been called into service, the corners of the earth have been searched for inspiration and apparently nothing has been left which can be produced as even a revived novelty.

Cameo Effects in Cotton.

Cameo effects (two shades of a given color) are very much the thing in printed dress cotton this year. Usually the printing is in lighter tone on a darker ground, giving the cameo suggestion, but the patterns may be in scroll or stripe effect, not suggestive of cameos—as one ordinarily understands the term. The printed cotton foulards in these cameo effects are especially pleasing and will make up into cool, inexpensive frocks for warm weather wear in the street. Such a frock, with the right sort of hat and parasol is exceedingly good looking.

What They Left Behind.

We know of a lot of men who didn't leave much behind them in the way of actual cash accumulated but they did leave families rich in the memories of the happiness they had while they were alive.

"Always the BEST and MOST for Your Money"

THE RUT

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE.

(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union.)

Professor Archelaus Tidworth retired from the rostrum in the little village hall of Holmwood with a smirk and a bow, and hurried his steps, once behind the scenes, to a table where his wife was counting over the meager receipts of the evening.

"We'll have to cut out these way-back towns—field too narrow for our abilities," muttered the professor.

"Attentive audience, though. How you did pour it into them," Archelaus—quoting the classics!"

That was the stunt of the impressive looking, basso-profundo voiced professor. He had a worn, tattered lecture, which proved that every town he went to had missed a marvellous commercial future through striking a rut and sticking in it. "Get out of the rut" was his loud braying appeal to towns and individuals.

The discourse was dreary and rapid, but its one essential point took root with at least two of the audience, Muriel Baird, eighteen, an orphan, a drudge in the home of a distant relative, seriously drunk in the glowing pictures delineated by the rostrum fiend as to the wonderful prospects open in the great thriving city for the young and ambitious, and Muriel longed for expansion and independence.

Across the aisle from her, Arnold Wade was likewise fertile ground for the seed sown by the lecturer. He had worked at wages never increased in the next town, had saved some money, even enough to enable him to buy an automobile, and in a modest way enjoyed life, but he, too, felt the hall resolving to "get out of the rut!"

This estimable young man the next day made all his arrangements for giving up his position. He experienced a rare sense of freedom as he started away in his auto, bound for the city fifty miles distant.

At the same hour, carrying a neat looking suitcase, Muriel Baird took the old turnpike road leading to the nearest railroad town. She was secretly glad as an automobile slowed up, and its owner sang out courteously, "Can I give you a lift, young lady?"

Muriel turned to view her questioner, discerned that he was a young man, blushed divinely and murmured: "I was going to Ledbury."

"Right on my way. Why," he added, "didn't I see you at the lecture last evening?"

To which Muriel assented, and this naturally led up to the discovery that they were "two sons of a single thought"—"getting out of the rut!"

"Well, well," commented the free and open Arnold, "this is quite coincidental. Here we are, starting out with the world all before us. Suppose you save time and railroad fare by staying right in the machine till we reach the city. I tell you, I consider having your pleasant company all the way seems like a harbinger of good fortune. It would be pleasant to keep track of one another. Won't you write me to the general delivery when you get settled? And I'll do the same to you."

And then they parted with a good honest, hearty handshake, and neither was likely to forget the other for a long time to come.

Arnold sold his automobile for a fair sum and spent a week looking for an investment for his little capital. One day he received a brief note from Muriel, telling that she had found work at a delicatessen store.

Arnold started to locate the place that evening. Inquiry led to it being pointed out to him across a street he had been traversing. A swift automobile turned the corner. He met a crushing contact and knew no more.

It was not a long story he heard, when, after a week of unconsciousness, fever and delirium, Arnold was made to comprehend that he had been tenderly cared for by Muriel and her employer, a Mrs. Latcombe, who lived behind the little delicatessen shop. It was directly in front of it that Arnold had been run down. It was Muriel, who witnessed the mishap, and a recognition of his friendly face had led to her caring for him as if he were an own brother.

Arnold mended slowly. One day from an adjoining room he heard his kind hostess say:

"I've got some rather bad news for you, Muriel, dear. I have word from my invalid husband in California, and he wants me to sell out and come to him. I am offered four thousand five hundred dollars for the five stores. You have made this one, with your pleasant manner and neat way of keeping it, and I am going to ask the purchaser to retain you in charge."

At that Arnold joined the ladies. "Going to sell the store?" he exclaimed. "I'd like a chance at this one,

Mrs. Latcombe. I have over one thousand two hundred dollars in the bank."

"Certainly you can have the first chance—the price is nine hundred dollars."

"I'll take it if Miss Muriel—she shall decide. Mrs. Latcombe knows I love you, Muriel, and maybe you have suspected it. Call it partners for life, become my wife, and how happy we will be."

So, out of the rut, they joined business issues in a small way. It grew to greater things as time went on. The light of love and contentment never dimmed for those two ardent young souls.

Abhorred Red Taps.

"A swollen organization always means inefficient administration," says the air minister, as he surveys the staff which he has taken over. How did Napoleon manage his clerical staff one wonders. According to Wellington there were 12,000 clerks in the French war office. Normally we had 60 clerks with the war secretary, 40 in the ordnance, and about 50 at the horse guards. "These 150 do the work of the French, yet the French clerks begin to write at six in the morning, and ours go down at ten or eleven." Of course the size of the armies differed also.—London Chronicle.

Immaterial.

RUMELY HELD FOR PERJURY ONLY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 9.—Dr. Edward Rumely, publisher of the New York Evening Mail was held under $35,000 bail today, when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hitchcock, on a charge of perjury in seeking to conceal, it is alleged, that he bought the Mail for the German Imperial government.

Dr. Rumely was held only on the charge in connection with his report to enemy alien property custodian A. Mitchell Palmer. He was unable to furnish bail immediately and will be held until it is forthcoming.

BRITISH HARASS SUBMARINE BASES

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, July 9.—Four German torpedo boats and four destroyers in the harbor at Zeebrugge were attacked by British aircraft, during one of a series of raids over Belgium, the Admiralty announced today.

Six German biplanes were downed. There was a spectacular sky action between three big British seaplanes and seven German aeroplanes, in which two of the latter were destroyed.

The text of the official announcement follows:
"From the Fourth of July until the 7th, seven tons of bombs were dropped upon the docks at Ostend, Zeebrugge and the Bruges docks. Direct hits were obtained upon a submarine shelter. Four hostile torpedo boats and four destroyers were attacked in the Zeebrugge harbor."

"Six hostile machines were brought down. All of ours returned safely. There was a fight between three of our large seaplanes and seven hostile aeroplanes which lasted fifty minutes. Two of the German seaplanes were destroyed."

"Some of our machines were damaged but all returned safely."

TYPHOON SWEEPS ISLAND OF GUAM

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—Scores were injured and half the population made destitute when a typhoon swept Mirianne Island, Guam, on July 6, Captain Smith, of the navy, governor of Guam, informed the state department today.

The loss of life was small, according to the report, but the loss of government property, both afloat and ashore, was heavy. Food was taken from the naval supplies to relieve the suffering, but there is still a serious shortage.

RE-AWAKENING IN STATE POLITICS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, July 9.—Beginning tonight when the Democratic committee of forty-two meets at Syracuse, politics in the state will undergo a re-awakening.

Because of various Democratic dissensions which have sprung up, particularly in some of the counties of the southern tier, it is now problematical as to what the committee of forty-two, headed by former Senator T. Harvey Ferris of Utica, will be able to accomplish tonight. Generally speaking it is taken here by some capitol politicians, as a foregone conclusion that the Democratic nominee for governor will be decided upon at the Syracuse meeting. It may be, they conclude, that no announcement of such action will be made, but that will not deter the naming of the man who will carry the Democratic gubernatorial banner. The framing of a platform will be given secondary consideration, it is believed.

With the Syracuse "pow-wow" out of the way, the Republicans will be given the center of the political stage for a while beginning July 13 with the Saratoga convention.

In the meantime farmers who do not favor either Republican or Democratic candidates for governor, are invited to gather in New York July 19 by Mark DuBois of Poughkeepsie, now candidate for governor on a farmers' ticket.

Then comes the Single Tax party which has recently undergone rehabilitation. Followers of this party have announced it will assemble in Albany, July 20 and 21. The Democrats wind up the convention at Saratoga July 25.

GUARDSMEN BATTLE DRAFT EVADERS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Heber Springs, Ark., July 9.—A machine gun battle is expected in this vicinity today if posses and Arkansas National Guardsmen, who are hunting a band of draft evaders at approximately thirty strong, that are known to be in the neighborhood. In a battle yesterday at the home of one of them, three men, one official and two of the band, were killed. The guardsmen, who were summoned after the deserters with their supporters fled, have established themselves with two machine guns at the Atkinson homestead, where the first fight occurred. They have discovered quantities of food, clothing and ammunition, showing that the resisters had prepared for a siege.

Spacious Los Angeles.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, July 9.—The city of Los Angeles covers more area than any other city in the United States, but its population is only about 600,000. City Engineer Hansen has just announced that the area is 362.04 square miles. "In other words," said Hansen, "Los Angeles is 44 miles long and 29 miles wide. There are 493.5 miles of paved streets and 742.42 miles of streets otherwise improved."

10,000 War Gardens.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Madison, Wis., July 9.—Ten thousand war gardens is the response this city has made to the call for greater food production. Of this number, believed to be the largest of any city in Wisconsin, 1,500 were assigned by the Association of Commerce. Thousands of bushels of potatoes and other vegetables are being grown to aid the nation's food supply.

W. S. TO HANDLE O. AND W. FREIGHT

Effective next Monday all less carload shipments of outbound and inbound freight, which has been handled at the O. & W. freight house in this city will be received at or delivered from the freight house of the West Shore Railroad.

Some time ago The Freeman stated that there was rumor that the government would consolidate the handling of freight at the West Shore freight house, but at that time the rumor could not be confirmed.

MITCHELL'S BODY REACHES NEW YORK

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 9.—The funeral party, including Mrs. Mitchell, and a military guard, met ex-Mayor Mitchell's body when it arrived on the Southern Express this morning. The casket was taken from its box and the American flag draped over it. Then it was placed in an automobile hearse, and accompanied by an escort of policemen, taken to Major Mitchell's late residence, where the body will remain until it is taken to the city hall tomorrow to lie in state until the funeral Thursday morning.

A small party of the former mayor's friends met the body at the railroad station. Plans were completed today to give Major Mitchell the most impressive and spectacular funeral the city has witnessed since that of President Grant. More than ten thousand men of military and civil life, with a flying escort of twenty aeroplanes, strewing the cortege with flowers from the air will pay final homage to the aviator.

Thousands of persons and many civic organizations are expected to pass the ex-major's coffin as it lies in state. At nine o'clock Thursday morning the body will be taken to St. Patrick's Cathedral, where a solemn high requiem mass will be celebrated.

SHIPPING PROGRAM.

Includes Huge Fleet of Giant Carriers.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—Ninety-two transports of 12,000 tons each are a part of the shipping board's program, it was learned today. Actual construction has been started on a large number and it is planned to have the last of them take the water a year from this fall.

They are being so constructed that they will be available as passenger ships and as giant merchantmen after the war.

Chairman Hurley of the shipping board, discussing the ship production at the White House today, was extremely optimistic. American ship yards are putting ships into the water faster than boilers can be secured, he asserted, and the average efficiency of the yards has been increased forty per cent.

"We are now manufacturing ships instead of building them," he declared.

Mrs. Hasbrouck Calls Meeting.
Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck chairman of the knitting and yarn committee of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, has called a meeting of all those volunteer workers who have consented to assist in the distribution of yarn from headquarters and the receiving of knitted garments to be turned at the same place. This meeting will take place tomorrow, Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock at the Red Cross Headquarters on Broadway.

Wood Shed Set on Fire.
An alarm of fire was turned in from Box No. 57 Pine Grove avenue and Broadway, at 11 o'clock Monday evening to which the fire department responded. The fire was in a frame building used as a wood shed in the rear of No. 89 Prince street. The wood shed had been set on fire. It was destroyed. Two adjoining wood sheds were partially burned by the fire. The wood sheds were on the property of the Hutton estate.

Winners at Forsyth Park.

CONTINUE PLANS TO AID RUSSIA

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—Exchanges between Washington and the various Entente capitals on the Russian situation were continued today. Every effort is being made to work out a general plan which will save Russia to the allies and will prevent Germany, by spreading suspicion of their motives, swinging the Russian people to the side of the Central Powers.

The general situation continues a source of worry to the allies. Officials here, however, expect that President Wilson's plans, when they are completely worked out, will solve the problem.

Russia again was scheduled to be the chief topic of today's cabinet meeting. Secretary of Commerce Redfield has laid before President Wilson elaborate plans designed to show just to what extent America can go toward placing Russian industry on its feet. Just what assistance can be afforded by the department of agriculture and the estimated amount of actual cash which will be needed for the economic assistance suggested has also been figured out for the president, which he has had on his desk since last Saturday.

The military plans evolved by the supreme war council at Versailles together with the suggestions of Admiral Benson, chief of operations of the navy, and General March, chief of staff of the army, as to the parts the army and navy will play in giving aid to the Russians are also figured out.

It is promised that as soon as it is possible, without revealing essential points to the enemy, a frank statement of the Russian plans of the United States will be forthcoming from official sources. Meanwhile there is nothing that can be said on the subject.

It appeared certain here that Germany is perfecting her plans to tighten her grip on Russia. That she will seize Moscow under protest that such a move is necessary because of the murder of her ambassador is considered certain. And that this move will be followed by the taking of Petrograd is believed to be more than a possibility.

The Russian pot is boiling and must soon boil over, officials said today, and the developments of the next six weeks will determine whether the anarchy ridden country is to be saved from Germany.

BOLSHEVIKI EXPAND.

Chinese Have First Hand Opportunity to Observe Hun Methods.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 9.—A thousand Chinese have been murdered in Chinese Turkistan by raving hordes of the Bolsheviki, according to reports from that district, said a Pekin dispatch to the Times.

It is reported that the Bolsheviki have sent an ultimatum to Russian Turkistan demanding the removal of the present ruler.

It was followed up by an expedition which mowed down the peasants from armored trains and looted towns.

Brutal treatment was accorded to men and women alike. Millions of dollars were taken when the State Bank was looted.

UP RIVER IN CANOE.

Brooklyn Man and Wife Make Trip, Camping Out Nights.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Rockwell of Brooklyn, N. Y., are guests of Mrs. W. Trueman at Lake Katrine, having canoed up the Hudson river last week, camping out each night on the way.

Mr. Rockwell is chief taxidermist at the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences and has done some very artistic work for that institution, chief among which is the deer group that has called forth much praise from visitors. He is now engaged on a group of caribou for which he received a commission last fall to go to Labrador to procure the animals. An account of this trip, which was full of adventure, appeared in the Museum Quarterly. Mr. Rockwell is also an expert modeler in clay and has some splendid specimens of his work on exhibition at the Museum, finished in bronze, that are well worth inspection.

HUNGARIANS LOST HEAVILY ON PIAVE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berne, July 9.—Of the hundreds of thousands of men lost by the German allies in the ill-fated offensive against Italy, the greater part of the were Hungarians, according to information from Budapest.

Hungarian deputies have delivered a protest to the Hungarian parliament against the excessive losses on the PIAVE, denouncing the Austrian general staff for the annihilation of five Hungarian regiments, adding that hundreds of thousands of men were lost in the campaign against Italy.

The Hungarian press has joined in the campaign furiously, accusing Austria of sacrificing Hungarian soldiers.

Cow Does Her Bit.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 9.—The American cow contributed $100,000,000 of her product to the exports of the United States in the last year, nearly all in the form of condensed milk used by the Expeditionary Force in France.

A compilation made by the National City Bank shows that the quantity of condensed milk exported in the year ended June 30 will approximate 600,000 pounds, compared with 200,000 pounds for the corresponding period of 1917. These shipments are valued at $100,000,000, which sum was brought up to the century mark by exportations of butter and cheese, according to the National City Bank's figures. In the year ended June 30, 1917, the American cow contributed $50,000,000 of the nation's exports and the preceding year $25,000,000.

ART VS. BRICKS IN SYDNEY

A Peculiar Controversy in Australia That Is Agitating Labor Circles.

Here is a curious point of law or logic presented in the Sydney (N. S. W.) Bulletin. The musicians' union of Sydney charges the Melbourne eight hours' procession with something like sabbing because it decided that unionists, even if they don't belong to the musicians' organization, may play in its own ranks on the annual gala day.

There are arguments on both sides. It seems hard that a union bricklayer shouldn't be allowed to blow his own cornet in his own demonstration on a holiday, yet if he found a professional cornet-player laying bricks on a Good Friday he might object. Of course the man in the procession isn't playing for hire, but then it wouldn't improve things much if the cornet-player laid bricks gratis.

The bricklayer might argue that there are a certain number of bricks that must be laid, so the cornet-player would be doing another man out of a job, while there isn't any fixed amount of music that must be blown, so an amateur might blow a sample or two without depriving any other man of a crust. And the bricklayer probably says that the cornet-player couldn't lay bricks decently if he tried, to which the cornet-player possibly replies that the bricklayer can't make music.

To some extent it is a struggle between art and materialism. Music properly played is capable of arousing the highest and noblest emotions of which the soul is capable; a brick, even if properly laid, isn't. And soul isn't a thing to be lightly despised. But here the tangible bumps against the intangible. Nobody has seen a soul, while almost everybody has seen a brick.

TO RECLAIM DISABLED MEN

War Is Teaching a Great Lesson as to Possibilities in This Important Field.

The reclamation of the energies of all the disabled of the nation may be taught by the exigencies of war, according to Maj. Harry E. Mock, M. R. C., who in addressing the National League of American Pen Women, said:

"There are in the United States 600,000 persons who have been disabled in industries—probably more than the total number of soldiers who will be disabled through this war—yet neither government nor industry has hitherto made thorough effort to reclaim their energy. That is a great lesson this war has taught us, and when we have won it we shall find that, through deaths, a cessation of immigration, and other causes, we shall face a great shortage in the labor market. We shall then turn our attention to the reclamation of all the disabled and thus our country will profit by the labor of all her sons and daughters."

Pigeons Broke Up a Monopoly.

One of the queer things about the nutmeg is the romantic way in which nature thwarted the Dutch attempt to establish a complete monopoly of the spice. They own the Banda islands, where most of the nutmeg trees grow, and at one time they wanted to prevent everyone else from raising the spice. So to keep up prices and to induce other planters on other islands to cut down their plantations the Dutch at one time burned three piles of nutmegs, each of them said to have been as big as an average church. They induced other planters to join with them and it soon seemed as though they were killing all competition.

Then nature took a hand in the game. A large pigeon of the islands, which was extremely fond of mace, carried the seeds to all the surrounding lands, even to the mainland of Asia. Nutmeg trees began to grow wild in numerous places and all danger of a monopoly was removed.—Boston Post.

Two Mistranslations.

To the Spectator thanks are due for two enterprising mistranslations, one belonging to the genus schoolboy howler, and the other resulting from an attempt at French on the part of a mess sergeant.

The mess one day announced "imbecile rot" as the piece de resistance, the riddle being solved by the appearance of roast goose. It is just possible that the sergeant nourished some resentment against that particular goose, but it was generally thought that the imbecile rot had resulted from a half hour or so spent with a French-English dictionary.

The schoolboy alluded to the hilarity of nations by rendering the Horatian line: "Post equitem sedet atra Cura" as: "After horse exercise the black lady sits down with care."—Christian Science Monitor.

SENATE QUESTIONS W. O. EXECUTIVE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—President Newcomb Carleton, of the Western Union, appeared today before the senate interstate commerce committee, which is considering the resolution conferring authority on the president to take over the telephone and telegraph lines.

GERMAN WANTS PEACE.

But Would Negotiate Separately as at Brest-Litovsk.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Copenhagen, July 9.—"The time is ripe to discuss peace on the basis of reasonable disarmament through separate negotiations instead of at a round table," says George Bernhardt in the Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, said a dispatch from that city today. Bernhardt's terms call for a restoration of Germany's colonies, a mercantile agreement with England, the restoration of occupied districts in Persia and recognition of the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty between the Russian Bolsheviks and the Central Powers.

TEUTONS FOILED.

In Efforts to Plunder Granary of Ukraine.

Washington, July 9.—Amid the many easy triumphs which enabled the Teutons this year to slice great sections from the map of Russia, like coupons from a bond, Germany and Austria both suffered one frightful disappointment. And the pang was in the weakest part of their political anatomy—the collective stomach of their peoples.

The grain of which the two empires expected to plunder the Ukraine was not there—at least, there was so little of it that Germany had to lower her bread ration while Austria continued to starve a bit more rapidly. The supplies had been burned.

These fires were lighted, with a kind of poetic justice, by the remnants of the Czechoslovak army—deserters from the Austrian ranks and inveterate enemies of the Hapsburgs—who had, been reconstituted into Russian military units under the Kerensky regime and fought so splendidly for Russia before the whole nation collapsed from the gnawing of the Bolsheviks.

Until March of this year this Czechoslovak army had been stationed in the Ukraine—50,000 men in line and 50,000 more in reserve. Then Bolshevik representatives dissolved their organization and took away their arms, though about 20,000 refused to part with their weapons. They were promised that they would be allowed to leave Russia for the United States, but, of course, no means of transportation was provided. And so they remained where they were.

EXPRESS COMPANIES LOST.

Show Big Deficit for Month of January, Says I. C. C.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 9.—Returns of net operating income filed by seven express companies with the Interstate Commerce Commission today show that they operated at a loss of $1,637,657 for January, 1918. This is a loss of $1,625,534 over figures for the month of January, 1917, when the net deficit was $112,123.

The Southern Express Company, with a net operating income of $89,630 for January, 1918, was the only company not to show a loss. The deficits of the other companies for January, 1918, as compared with January of the previous year, are as follows:

Adams Express Company, $693,688 against $197,515; American Express Company, $752,645 against $16,619; Canadian Express Company, $52,119 against $17,826; Great Northern Express Company, $11,665 against $18,289; Northern Express Company, $28,192 against $1,195; Wells Fargo Company, $203,395 against $5,524; and Western Express Company, $5,679 against $5,738.

THE JOINERS.

Irish Soldier Being Tried.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 9.—The prosecution closed at noon in the case of Corporal Joseph Dowling, former Irish soldier, who was recently landed on the Irish coast from a German submarine. Dowling was accused of joining a force hostile to England while a prisoner of war in Germany; of endeavoring to induce others to join and that he was implicated in an attempt to land hostile forces in Ireland. Dowling had nothing to say in his own defense, although he had pleaded not guilty.

Austrian Command Unchanged.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 9.—Vienna papers are denying there has been any change in the Austria high command, according to a wireless dispatch from Rome, received at the Italian Embassy today. The details are being made, the dispatch says, to offset the discontent over the failure of their offensive, and the report that the Germans were to assume command. The paper also spread unfounded stories of rioting in Italy.

Allies in Albania.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Vienna, via London, July 9.—Allied pressure against the Austro-Hungarian front in southern Albania (Balkan theater of war) continues, the war office announced today.

The French gained more ground on the upper Devrol. There has been heavy pressure on the Vojussa river and southwest of Breat.

Don't Be a Delinquent.

As announced in Monday's Freeman the time limit for mailing the questionnaire is up, and those registered last month, who have failed to fill out their questionnaires, must do so at once, or they will be listed as delinquents.

The Hurdy Gurdy Man.

Talking about the non-productive occupations, some person asked Monday night if the hurdy gurdy man was classed as "non-productive."

Be that as it may, the hurdy gurdy man has not been seen lately. Perhaps he has been changed for "productive" employment.

What They Left Behind.

We know of a lot of men who didn't leave much behind them in the way of actual cash accumulated but they did leave families rich in the memories of the happiness they had while they were alive.

CHIC SPORT FROCK

Sleeveless Jacket May Be Separate Coat or Part of Dress.

For Summer Wear, Wool Jersey Cloth, Velvet or Light Weight Velours Is Suitable.

The sleeveless jacket shown in the sketch may either be a separate coat, as so many of them are, or it may be made to form part of the dress with which it is worn. If meant as a separate summer sport jacket, wool jersey cloth, velvet or light weight velours may be selected for it. It may be made a part of the dress, of which it is an accompaniment, by using a checked plingum or voile for the major portions of the garment and making jacket and cuffs of plain color linen or crash. As here shown, the dress is a very simple, plain affair, waist and skirt being joined by an inch-and-a-half or two-inch wide plain belt at the normal waistline.

With the addition of the sleeveless jacket, however, the garment becomes a very chic sport frock. The little coat is cut quite plain in front, and the back is closed by a wide plain panel. The belt is set under this back panel, brought around to the front, crossed and then drawn to form a sort of sash. The collar arrangement of this jacket is worth observing. It really distinguishes the entire garment. It does more than this, however; it holds the jacket, of which it is a part, properly in place, and gives the neck a trig, ship-shape look that is not possible with the open type of jacket.

A review of fall fabrics divulges the fact that plaids are to be very much in evidence next season, and the frock here shown might be very well developed in plaid worsted and plain color self fabric or velveteen, as a school frock for a girl of high school or college age.

However, fall is some months distant as yet, and for present wear the materials previously suggested, voile or gingham and plain color linen or crash, would be very smart and serviceable.

Nothing Out of Fashion Now.

Can anyone tell exactly what, if anything, is out of fashion at the present moment? In times gone by materials, trimmings and one thing and another were laid away as out of fashion, and from time to time various articles were brought forth from old chests that had hardly seen daylight for almost a score of years. But if there is any one thing out of the mode just now it fails to suggest itself to our memory.

Band bags, although in use for some time, are quite as good as ever, but are too expensive to ever become overpopular, and now come some of the exquisitely embroidered bags quaint and beautiful. On frocks we see quilting and tiny quilted edges, cording and any other form of decoration known to our grandmothers has been called into service, the corners of the earth have been searched for inspiration and apparently nothing has been left which can be produced as even a revived novelty.

Cameo Effects in Cotton.

Cameo effects (two shades of a given color) are very much the thing in printed dress cotton this year. Usually the printing is in lighter tone on a darker ground, giving the cameo suggestion, but the patterns may be in scroll or stripe effect, not suggestive of cameos—as one ordinarily understands the term. The printed cottons are especially pleasing and will make up into cool, inexpensive frocks for warm weather wear in the street. Such a dress and mail them, their local board must do so at once, or they will be listed as delinquents.

Talking about the non-productive occupations, some person asked Monday night if the hurdy gurdy man was classed as "non-productive."

THE RUT

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE.

(Copyright, 1918, by Western Newspaper Union.)

Professor Archelaus Tidworth retired from the rostrum in the little village hall of Holmwood with a smirk and a bow, and hurried his steps, once behind the scenes, to a table where his wife was counting over the meager receipts of the evening.

"We'll have to cut out these wack-back towns—held too narrow for our abilities," muttered the professor.

"Attentive audience, though. How you did pour it into them, Archelaus—quoting the classics!"

That was the stunt of the impressive looking, basso-profundo voiced professor. He had a worn, tattered lecture, which proved that every town he went to had missed a marvellous commercial future through striking a rut and sticking in it. "Get out of the rut" was his loud braying appeal to towns and individuals.

The discourse was dreary and vapid, but its one essential point took root with at least two of the audience, Muriel Baird, eighteen, an orphan, a drudge in the home of a distant relative, seriously drunk in the glowing pictures delineated by the rostrum fiend as to the wonderful prospects open in the great thriving city for the young and ambitious, and Muriel longed for expansion and independence.

Across the aisle from her, Arnold Wade was likewise fertile ground for the seed sown by the lecturer. He had worked at wages never increased in the next town, had saved some money, even enough to enable him to buy an automobile, and in a modest way enjoyed life, but he, too, left the hall resolving to "get out of the rut!"

This estimable young man the next day made all his arrangements for giving up his position. He experienced a rare sense of freedom as he started away in his auto, bound for the city fifty miles distant.

At the same hour, carrying a neat looking suitcase, Muriel Baird took the old turnpike road leading to the nearest railroad town. She was secretly glad as an automobile slowed up and its owner sank out courteously, "Can I give you a lift, young lady?"

Muriel turned to view her questioner, discerned that he was a young man, blushed divinely and murmured: "I was going to Ledbury."

"Right on my way. Why," he added, "didn't I see you at the lecture last evening?"

To which Muriel assented, and this naturally led up to the discovery that they were "two souls of a single thought"—"getting out of the rut!"

"Well, well," commented the free and open Arnold, "this is quite coincidental. Here we are, starting out with the world all before us. Suppose you save time and railroad fare by staying right in the machine till we reach the city. I tell you, I consider having your pleasant company all the way seems like a harbinger of good fortune. It would be pleasant to keep track of one another. Won't you write me to the general delivery when you get settled? And I'll do the same to you."

And then they parted with a good

honest, hearty handshake, and neither was likely to forget the other for a long time to come.

Arnold sold his automobile for a fair sum and spent a week looking for an investment for his little capital. One day he received a brief note from Muriel, telling that she had found work at a delicatessen store.

Arnold started to locate the place that evening. Inquiry led to it being pointed out to him across a street he had been traversing. A swift automobile turned the corner. He met a crushing contact and knew no more.

It was not a long story he heard, when, after a week of unconsciousness, fever and delirium, Arnold was made to comprehend that he had been tenderly cared for by Muriel and her employer, a Mrs. Latcombe, who lived behind the little delicatessen shop. It was directly in front of it that Arnold had been run down. It was Muriel, who witnessed the mishap, and a recognition of his friendly face had led to her caring for him as if he were an own brother.

Arnold mended slowly. One day from an adjoining room he heard his kind hostess say:

"I've got some rather bad news for you, Muriel, dear. I have word from my invalid husband in California, and he wants me to sell out and come to him. I am offered four thousand five hundred dollars for the five stores. You have made this one, with your pleasant manner and neat way of keeping it, and I am going to ask the purchaser to retain you in charge."

At that Arnold joined the ladies. "Going to sell the store," he exclaimed. "I'd like a chance at this one, what of it?"—Judge.

Mrs. Latcombe. I have over one thousand two hundred dollars in the bank."

"Certainly you can have the first chance—the price is nine hundred dollars."

"I'll take it if Miss Muriel—she shall decide. Mrs. Lat

RIVERSES JUDGE JENKINS'S OPINION

Appellate Division Overrules County Judge's Decision. And Names of Men at Mt. St. Alphonsus Will Be Stricken From Registry List.

The appellate division has recently reversed the order of County Judge Jenkins, granted October 27, 1917, denying the application of John J. Gardiner as deputy state superintendent of elections, to direct the inspectors of election of the town of Esopus to remove thirty-four names from the registry list. The opinion written by Justice Cochrane, with the rest of the justices concurring, reverses Judge Jenkins's order, and grants the application without cost, to remove the names.

The names involved were those of young men at the Mt. St. Alphonsus Monastery at Esopus, and Judge Jenkins ruled that the young men had not lost their vote by reason of making their home at Mt. St. Alphonsus Monastery, and that the decision of the court of appeals in the Barry case, which is considered the leading case in New York state on this point, did not apply in this particular action.

K. OF C. ACTIVITIES.

Doing War Work on Vast Scale Here and in France.

News of the arrival in France of fifty Knights of Columbus secretaries received in New York today will give impetus to the campaign to raise 2,000 additional field secretaries for overseas service. The Knights will have 1,000 secretaries in active service in Europe before September 15. The order will send 200 men this month. These secretaries are now in training in American camps.

William J. Mulligan, chairman of Knights of Columbus Committee of War Work Activities, announces that there are now more than 200 secretaries at work abroad and a large number of chaplains. 220 secretaries are in charge of Knights of Columbus huts and club houses in American training camps. Besides having charge of the recreational work, the foreign secretaries will send motor trucks with kitchen trailers to the front line trenches to serve hot coffee and soup to the boys under fire. Their big job will be to keep the boys physically clean.

An appeal has been issued for 2,000 additional secretaries for immediate service by the Knights of Columbus. Already the order has spent $7,000,000 and will spend $50,000,000 more in the next 12 months.

Omaha, Neb., July 9.—When the school enumerator in the Long school district called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Kay, he found sixteen children, twelve of whom were between five and twenty years of age. Eight of the twelve attended the Long school. There are three sets of twins in the Kay family, five, eight and twelve years respectively.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Music, when soft voices die,
Vibrates in the memory:
Clear, when sweet violins sicken,
Lives within the sense they quicken.

TIMELY TIPS.

This is the season of the year when looking over old treasures and unused but still useful articles, to pass them on. To somebody who has little, they would be both useful and acceptable.

The wise housewife these days does not, unless obliged by decorators or painters, tear up the whole house so that there is no place for the weary man to lay his head or read the evening paper. The housewife of today cleans and settles a room at a time and when his help is not needed the man of the house is not aware that housecleaning is in progress. The household upheavals of former days are now extinct, for which we are thankful.

When possible save the old curtains so that they may be hung each time while the new curtains are being laundered or dry cleaned. It takes but a few moments to hang them and it means much to the attractiveness of the room.

Sink paint brushes in kerosene then wash in hot soapsuds and they will become pliable again.

A never-failing remedy for a tender skin which might become a bed sore is to lather it freely with castile soap, letting it dry on.

Soda applied to a burn either from the fire or sun will relieve the pain. Moistens the soda and continue to add moisture as it dries.

Pineapple juice and honey make a fine cough syrup and one which the little people will not refuse.

If a fish bone or any sharp substance is swallowed, swallow the white of an egg immediately; this coats over the sharp edges and protects the stomach and intestines.

A hot raisin with a grain or two of red pepper wrapped in it is good for a toothache or an earache.

Put a little lemon or orange juice in the spoon before sipping with castor oil. It will go down with less protest.

Use popped corn instead of croutons with the tomato soup, thus saving wheat and giving your family a treat at the same time.

A little vinegar put on the hands will soften them when roughened by work or wind.

The July payment on Red Cross pledges became due on July 1. In making payment, subscribers are requested to use the remittance slip taken from the Red Cross calendar, which gives the name and address of the contributor, and the amount paid on account.

Checks and money-orders should be made payable to Second Red Cross War Fund.

Payments may be made in cash, or by check or money-order, and should be made to either Edward Coykendall, cashier, Second Red Cross War Fund, 22 Ferry street, Kingston, N. Y., or to Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, 576 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y.

TRANSFER TAXES.

State Comptroller Believes Evasions In Form of Notes Preventable.

Albany, N. Y., July 9.—The frequent practice adopted by testators of issuing promissory notes payable after the maker's death and thereby avoiding the payment of thousands of dollars annually in the form of inheritance taxes could be easily prevented by the adoption of the two year provision in the Federal statute, State Comptroller Travis believes, according to a statement made public today. This question, he points out, often arises where the department is called upon to determine whether a gift was made in contemplation of death, and as such, a taxable transfer under the inheritance tax law.

"The disposition of property, camouflaged in the form of a promissory note, payable at or after the death of the maker," explained the comptroller, "seems to me to be almost as testamentary in effect as a gift in contemplation of death or even a will, and permits in most cases a clear evasion of our present statute. A person well advanced in years will give a favorite relative or friend his property note for a large sum of money, payable after his death in consideration of the services rendered, although these, in some instances, are worth little more than the payee's maintenance while living in the family.

"It seems to me that one who had rendered services worth thousands of dollars would not consent to continue the services and accept as security for his pay merely the promissory note of the debtor payable after his death, thereby permitting the debtor to lose or squander all his property before this obligation became due. Such a transaction stamps itself as an evasion for some purpose; and as the ordinary way is to pay one's debts or most of them in one's lifetime, or else make provision for the payment of them in one's will or leave them subject to proof as a debt to be proven against the estate, the apparent evasion in a transaction of this kind is to avoid payment of a transfer tax."

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

2292—An Attractive Top Garment.

This model is good for cheviot, broadcloth, velour, vicuna, zibeline, double-faced cloakings, corduroy, velvet and pile fabrics, like plush or chinchilla. The coat may be finished without the cape, and the cape may be worn separately, the coat collar serving as a collar for the cape. The model is in box effect, with a belt at the waistline, which confines the fullness.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 10 requires 5 1/2 yards of 44-inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.
Send 10c in silver or stamps for our Up-to-Date Spring and Summer, 1918, Catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking; also some points for the needle (illustrating 50 of the various, simple stitches) all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

ACCORD.

Accord, July 8.—A boarder staying at the Kerstein farm house, was struck by the fender of an automobile near R. Smith's store Wednesday and suffered some bruises. Witnesses declare that the driver of the car was absolutely blameless.

Relatives from Saugerties have been visiting D. E. Schoonmaker and family.

Only the fact that the car was running very slowly averted what would have been a most dreadful automobile accident at the highway bridge Saturday afternoon. H. B. Swoops, the 2d, and family of Madeira, Pa., who were enjoying a tour in their Packard car, were traveling on the state road toward Kingston. On making the curve near the bridge they evidently thought their road led across the bridge but noticing the sign slowed up but could not get back on the state road and instead plunged into the railing along side the bridge. Though the railing was smashed the car was halted before going through. This was most fortunate since beyond the railing there is a sheer drop of many feet to the rocks on the edge of the Rondout. Some tackle blocks were secured and many hands joined in pulling the car back in the road. The car did not seem to be damaged, so after rewarding those who assisted them, the party continued on their journey. This makes the third or fourth accident that has occurred at almost exactly the same place in each instance.

CONTINUE PLANS TO AID RUSSIA

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, July 9.—Exchanges between Washington and the various Entente capitals on the Russian situation were continued today. Every effort is being made to work out a general plan which will save Russia to the allies and will prevent Germany, by spreading suspicion of their motives, swinging the Russian people to the side of the Central Powers.

The general situation continues a source of worry to the allies. Officials here, however, expect that President Wilson's plans, when they are completely worked out, will solve the problem.

Russia again was scheduled to be the chief topic of today's cabinet meeting. Secretary of Commerce Redfield has laid before President Wilson elaborate plans designed to show just to what extent America can go toward placing Russian industry on its feet. Just what assistance can be afforded by the department of agriculture and the estimated amount of actual cash which will be needed for the economic assistance suggested has also been figured out for the president, which he has had on his desk since last Saturday.

The military plans evolved by the supreme war council at Versailles together with the suggestions of Admiral Benson, chief of operations of the navy, and General March, chief of staff of the army, as to the part the army and navy will play in giving aid to the Russians are also figured out.

It is promised that as soon as it is possible, without revealing essential points to the enemy, a frank statement of the Russian plans of the United States will be forthcoming from official sources. Meanwhile there is nothing that can be said on the subject.

It appeared certain here that Germany is perfecting her plans to lighten her grip on Russia. That she will seize Moscow under protest that such a move is necessary because of the murder of her ambassador is considered certain. And that this move will be followed by the taking of Petrograd is believed to be more than a possibility.

The Russian pot is boiling and must soon boil over, officials said today and the developments of the next six weeks will determine whether the anarchy ridden country is to be saved from Germany.

BOLSHEVIKI EXPAND.

Chinese Have First Hand Opportunity to Observe Hun Methods.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 9.—A thousand Chinese have been murdered in Chinese Turkistan by raving hordes of the Bolsheviks, according to reports from that district, said a Peking dispatch to the Times.

It is reported that the Bolsheviks have sent an ultimatum to Russian Turkistan demanding the removal of the present ruler.

It was followed up by an expedition which mowed down the peasants from armored trains and looted towns.

Brutal treatment was accorded to men and women alike.

Millions of dollars were taken when the State Bank was looted.

At present the Bolsheviks are in the hands of the Chinese.

Gordon Durham, of the Marine Corps, is visiting friends in the city. He expects soon to sail for France.

Frank Schoppie of Jersey City Heights is a visitor at the residence of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kaufman.

Brooklyn Man and Wife Make Trip.

Camping Out Nights.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Rockwell of Brooklyn, N. Y., are guests of Mrs. W. Trueman at Lake Katrine, having canoed up the Hudson river last week, camping out each night on the way.

Mr. Rockwell is chief taxidermist at the Brooklyn Institute of Art and Sciences and has done some very artistic work for that institution, chief among which is the deer group that has called forth much praise from visitors. He is now engaged on a group of caribou, for which he received a commission last fall to go to Labrador to procure the animals.

An account of this trip, which was full of adventure, appeared in the Museum Quarterly. Mr. Rockwell is also an expert modeler in clay and has some splendid specimens of his work on exhibition at the Museum, finished in bronze, that are well worth inspection.

HUNGARIANS LOST HEAVILY ON PIAVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Berne, July 9.—Of the hundreds of thousands of men lost by the German allies in the ill-fated offensive against Italy, the greater part of the were Hungarians, according to information from Budapest.

Hungarian deputies have delivered a protest to the Hungarian parliament against the excessive losses on the PIAVE, denouncing the Austrian general staff for the annihilation of two Hungarian regiments, adding that hundreds of thousands of men were lost in the campaign against Italy.

The Hungarian press has joined in the campaign furiously, accusing Austria of sacrificing Hungarian soldiers.

Cow Does Her Bit.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 9.—The American cow contributed $100,000,000 of her

product to the exports of the United States in the last year, nearly all in the form of condensed milk used by the Expeditionary Force in France.

A compilation made by the National City Bank shows that the quantity of condensed milk exported in the year ended June 30 will approximate $60,000,000, compared with 200,000 pounds for the corresponding period of 1917. These shipments are valued at $100,000,000, which sum was brought up to the century mark by exportations of butter and cheese, according to the National City Bank's figures. In the year ended June 30, 1917, the American cow contributed $50,000,000 of the nation's exports and the preceding year $25,000,000.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 9.—Prices showed fractional improvement in a number of issues at the opening of the stock market today, including Mexican Petroleum, Steel Common, American can and Marine Preferred. St. Paul Preferred was active and strong and rose three points to 77, and the Common rose nearly one point to 42 3/4. Some of the railroad issues also showed improvement. The market quickly turned irregular, however, and by the end of the first fifteen minutes the majority of those shares dealt in disclosed fractional losses from the early high figures. Distillers broke three points to 55. The market was extremely dull and irregular during the forenoon. Distillers broke 3 3/4 points to 54, but rallied to 56 1/4. The railroad list was quiet, but fractionally higher. Marine Preferred moved up a point to 137 1/2. U. S. Steel after selling down to 105 1/2 rallied to 106 3/4. ST. Paul preferred reacted to 75 3/4. The stock market closed steady today. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds firm.

LOCAL PLANT RUSHED.

Improvements Being Made to Foundry on St. James Street.

The E. G. Long Company's foundry on St. James street, is one of the city's busy industries turning out war orders, working on sub-contracts. Improvements are being made which will result in the capacity of the plant being doubled. New machinery will be installed and when all the improvements are completed additional employees will be needed. The company specializes in the manufacture of iron and brass castings, general machine specialties and marine supplies.

ART VS. BRICKS IN SYDNEY

A Peculiar Controversy in Australia That is Agitating Labor Circles.

Here is a curious point of law or logic presented in the Sydney (N. S. W.) Bulletin. The musicians' union of Sydney charges the Melbourne eight hours' procession with something like scabbing because it decided that unionists, even if they don't belong to the musicians' organization, may play in its own ranks on the annual gala day. There are arguments on both sides. It seems hard that a union bricklayer shouldn't be allowed to blow his own cornet in his own demonstration on a holiday, yet if he found a professional cornet-player laying bricks on a Good Friday he might object. Of course the man in the procession isn't playing for hire, but then it wouldn't improve things much if the cornet-player laid bricks gratis.

The bricklayer might argue that there are a certain number of bricks that must be laid, so the cornet-player would be doing another man's job, while there isn't any fixed amount of music that must be blown, so an amateur might blow a sample or two without depriving any other man of a crust. And the bricklayer probably says that the cornet-player couldn't lay bricks decently if he tried, to which the cornet-player possibly replies that the bricklayer can't make music.

To some extent it is a struggle between art and materialism. Music properly played is capable of arousing the highest and noblest emotions of which the soul is capable; a brick, even if properly laid, isn't. And soul isn't a thing to be lightly despised. But here the tangible bumps against the intangible. Nobody has seen a soul, while almost everybody has seen a brick.

TO RECLAIM DISABLED MEN

War is Teaching a Great Lesson as to Possibilities in This Important Field.

The reclamation of the energies of all the disabled of the nation may be taught by the exigencies of war, according to Maj. Harry E. Mock, M. R. C., who in addressing the National League of American Pen Women, said:

"There are in the United States 600,000 persons who have been disabled in industries—probably more than the total number of soldiers who will be disabled through this war—yet neither government nor industry has hitherto made thorough effort to reclaim their energy. That is a great lesson this war has taught us, and when we have won it we shall find that, through deaths, a cessation of immigration, and other causes, we shall face a great shortage in the labor market. We shall then turn our attention to the reclamation of all the disabled and thus our country will profit by the labor of all her sons and daughters."

Pigeons Broke Up a Monopoly.

One of the queer things about the nutmeg is the romantic way in which nature thwarted the Dutch attempt to establish a complete monopoly of the spice. They own the Banda Islands, where most of the nutmeg trees grow, and at one time they wanted to prevent everyone else from raising the spice. So to keep up prices and to induce other planters on other islands to cut down their plantations the Dutch at one time burned three piles of nutmegs, each of them said to have been as big as an average church. They induced other planters to join with them and it soon seemed as though they were killing all competition.

Then nature took a hand in the game. A large pigeon of the islands, which was extremely fond of nutmeg, carried the seeds to all the surrounding lands, even to the mainland of Asia. Nutmeg trees began to grow wild in numerous places and all danger of a monopoly was removed.—Boston Post.

Two Mistranslations.

To the spectator thanks are due for two enterprising mistranslations, one belonging to the genus schoolboy howler, and the other resulting from an attempt at French on the part of a new sergeant.

The menu one day announced "imbeddled rot" as the place de resistance, the riddle being solved by the appearance of roast goose. It is just possible that the sergeant nourished some resentment against that particular goose, but it was generally thought that the imbeddled rot had resulted from a half hour or so spent with a French-English dictionary.

The schoolboy added to the hilarity of the occasion by rendering the Horatian line: "Post equitem sedet atra curia" as: "After horse exercise the black lady sits down with care."—Christian Science Monitor.

"Keep Your Head Down Fritzie Boy!"

Lieut. Gitz-Rice, who has gone through many battles, wrote both words and music of this humorous banter, so characteristic of the fighting men. It is expressively sung by the American Quartet.

"What Are You Going to Do to Help the Boys?" is another popular melody with a ringing appeal. Charles Hart and the Shannon Four sing it. Both songs on one record.

RED MONOGRAMS WIN FIRST GAME

Twilight League Season Opened Monday Evening at 7 O'Clock at McVey's Field—Freeman Plays Holy Name Tonight.

The Twilight Baseball League season was opened Monday evening at McVey's Field when the Red Monograms defeated the U. & D. Shops by a score of 18 to 2. The game was too one-sided to be interesting, but the shopmen will undoubtedly play better ball later when their baseball machine gets running smoothly. R. Williams and F. Brown were in the points for the shopmen, while J. Spall and C. Westfall were in the points for the Monograms. Arthur Rice umpired and Nicholas Picciano of the Playground Association was the official scorer.

This evening at 7 o'clock at McVey's Field, The Freeman Publishing Company team will clash with St. Joseph's Holy Name Society team.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Loafers in Kingston Are All Working Some in Town and Some South—Hard to Get Able Bodied Men for City Work.

The state loafer law went into effect the first of July, and so far in Kingston no arrests have been made under the law. The reason for that is simple. All the loafers listed by the police department have been reported as having gone to work. Many are working out of town while others have secured jobs at home.

Never in the history of Kingston have able bodied men, willing to work, been able to obtain the wages that are paid working men at the present time. The water department has not planned to lay any pipe this season it is said, due to the fact that it is impossible to get enough men to carry on the work. It might also be added that pipe has jumped in price.

The street department is also up against it as far as getting able bodied men is concerned. The board of public works at a recent meeting directed Superintendent Van Keuren to repair Hasbrouck avenue hill as soon as possible. Mr. Van Keuren is willing and anxious to get that hill in shape, but owing to the lack of men has not been able to get around as yet. The hill will be placed in shape just as soon as Superintendent Van Keuren can reach it.

East Union street, between Broadway and Hasbrouck avenue, is being gotten ready for Willite.

Superintendent Van Keuren has some men busy patching up Flatbush avenue and placing it in shape.

There were no cases in police court today, and no arrests were made during the night by the police department.

Since the loafer law went into effect there has been a dropping off in the number of lodgers at the city hall hookup. There is only one regular. He works during the day about town at odd jobs.

Monday three cases of measles were reported to the health board.

The health board will meet Wednesday evening instead of tonight as expected.

Cards for the women aliens who registered at police headquarters may now be obtained. Those who registered must call at police headquarters and secure their cards before Saturday.

THE ACID TEST.

Being the Story of a Man Who Persisted.

I am going to call him First Lieut. Williams, of the Aviation Corps, because that isn't his name and he desires more than anything else not to be advertised. His hair is perfectly gray, but he carries himself with military precision and obeys his superior officers as well as he himself was obeyed during those years when he was boss of many thousands of workmen in one of America's greatest public-service corporations. And this is how First Lieut. Williams, an old man to be starting on his military career, is taking orders today and feeling like a young man again.

For about a month after President Wilson had offered America with its men and resources to the cause of freedom and democracy Mr. Williams sat at his desk in a tall skyscraper and envied the young fellows whom he saw flocking toward the training camps. Finally he decided he had done enough sitting around, getting his ideas of "war out of the newspapers."

"Charley," he said to his business partner one morning, "All your sons have gone into the service and you've done your share. But I haven't got any boys to offer to my country."

REVERSES JUDGE JENKINS'S OPINION

Appellate Division Overrules County Judge's Decision. And Names of Men at Mt. St. Alphonsus Will Be Stricken From Registry List.

The appellate division has recently reversed the order of County Judge Jenkins, granted October 27, 1917, denying the application of John J. Gardiner, as deputy state superintendent of elections, to direct the inspection of election of the town of Esopus to remove thirty-four names from the registry list. The opinion written by Justice Cochran, with the rest of the justices concurring, reverses Judge Jenkins's order, and grants the application without cost, to remove the names.

The names involved were those of young men at the Mt. St. Alphonsus Monastery at Esopus, and Judge Jenkins ruled that the young men had not lost their vote by reason of making their home at Mt. St. Alphonsus Monastery, and that the decision of the court of appeals in the Barry case, which is considered the leading case in New York state on this point, did not apply in this particular action.

R. OF C. ACTIVITIES.

Doing War Work on Vast Scale Here and in France.

News of the arrival in France of fifty Knights of Columbus secretaries received in New York today will give impetus to the campaign to raise 2,000 additional field secretaries for overseas service. The Knights will have 1,000 secretaries in active service in Europe before September 15. The order will send 200 men this month. These secretaries are now in training in American camps.

William J. Mulligan, chairman of Knights of Columbus Committee of War Work Activities, announces that there are now more than 200 secretaries at work abroad and a large number of chaplains. 320 secretaries are in charge of Knights of Columbus huts and club houses in American training camps. Besides having charge of the recreational work, the foreign secretaries will send motor trucks with kitchen trailers to the front line trenches to serve hot coffee and soup to the boys under fire. Their big job will be to keep the boys physically clean.

An appeal has been issued for 2,000 additional secretaries for immediate service by the Knights of Columbus. Already the order has spent $7,000,000 and will spend $50,000,000 more in the next 12 months.

Boy, Page the Colonel.

Omaha, Neb., July 9.—When the school enumerators in the Long school district called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Aleck Kay he found sixteen children, twelve of whom were between five and twenty years of age. Eight of the twelve attended the Long school. There are three sets of twins in the Kay family, five, eight and twelve years respectively.

WHERE TO PAY RED CROSS PLEDGES

The July payment on Red Cross pledges became due on July 1. In making payment, subscribers are requested to use the remittance slip taken from the Red Cross calendar, which gives the name and address of the contributor, and the amount paid on account.

Checks and money-orders should be made payable to Second Red Cross War Fund. Payments may be made in cash, or by check or money-order, and should be made to either Edward Coykendall, cashier, Second Red Cross War Fund, 22 Ferry street, Kingston, N. Y., or to Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, 576 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y.

TRANSFER TAXES.

State Comptroller Believes Evasive in Form of Notes Preventable.

Albany, N. Y., July 9.—The frequent practice adopted by testators of issuing promissory notes payable after the maker's death and thereby avoiding the payment of thousands of dollars annually in the form of inheritance taxes could be easily prevented by the adoption of the two year provision in the Federal statute, State Comptroller Travis believes, according to a statement made public today. This question, he points out, often arises where the department is called upon to determine whether a gift was made in contemplation of death, and as such, a taxable transfer under the inheritance tax law.

"The disposition of property, camouflaged in the form of a promissory note, payable at or after the death of the maker," explained the comptroller, "seems to me to be almost as testamentary in effect as a gift in contemplation of death or even a will, and permits in most cases a clear evasion of our present statute. A person well advanced in years will give a favorite relative or friend his promissory note for a large sum of money, payable after his death in consideration of the services rendered, although these, in some instances, are worth little more than the payer's maintenance while living in the family."

"It seems to me that one who had rendered services worth thousands of dollars would not consent to continue those services and accept as security for his pay merely the promissory note of the debtor payable after his death, thereby permitting the debtor to lose or squander all his property before this obligation became due. Such a transaction stamps itself as an evasion for some purpose, and as the ordinary way is to pay one's debts or most of them in one's lifetime, or else make provision for the payment of them in one's will or leave them subject to proof as a debt to be proven against the estate, the apparent evasion in a transaction of this kind is to avoid payment of a transfer tax."

OUR DAILY PATTERNS.

2292—An Attractive Top Garment.

This model is good for cheviot, broadcloth, velour, vicuna, zibeline, double-faced cloakings, corduroy, velvet and pile fabrics, like plush or chinchilla. The coat may be finished without the cape, and the cape may be worn separately, the coat collar serving as a collar for the cape. The model is in box effect, with a belt at the waistline, which confines the fullness.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 10 requires 5 1/2 yards of 44-inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to pay address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Roadout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice. Send 10c in silver or stamps for our Up-to-Date Spring and Summer, 1918, Catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking; also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches) all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

ACCORD.

Accord, July 8.—A boarder staying at the Kerstein farm house, was struck by the fender of an automobile near R. Smith's store Wednesday and suffered some bruises. Witnesses declare that the driver of the car was absolutely blameless.

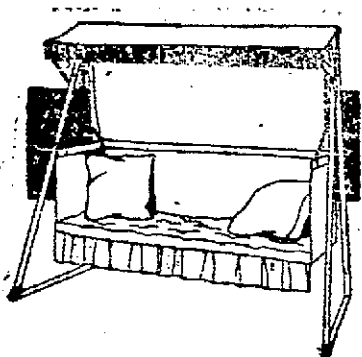

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Markle of New Jersey are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Markle.

The Boy Scouts took part in the exercises at Kingston on July 4, leaving town Wednesday afternoon and camping at Porsyth Park over night. They made 18 points in the athletic event.

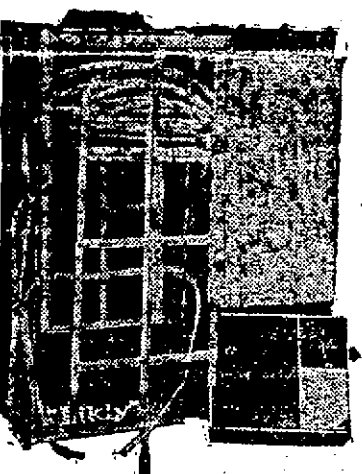

Lizzie Bessie Maltz fell off a bicycle and injured his foot painfully last week.

TIMELY TIPS.

This is the season of the year when looking over old treasures and unused but still useful articles, to pass them on. To somebody who has little, they would be both useful and acceptable.

The wise housewife these days does not, unless obliged by decorators or painters, tear up the whole house so that there is no place for the weary man to lay his head or read the evening paper.

The housewife of today cleans and settles a room at a time and when his help is not needed the man of the house is not aware that housecleaning is in progress. The household upheavals of former days are now extinct, for which we are thankful.

When possible save the old curtains so that they may be hung each time while the new curtains are being laundered or dry cleaned. It takes but a few moments to hang them and it means much to the attractiveness of the room.

Soak paint brushes in kerosene then wash in hot soapuds and they will become pliable again.

A never-failing remedy for a tender skin which might become a bed sore is to lather it freely with castile soap, letting it dry on.

Soda applied to a burn either from the fire or sun will relieve the pain. Moisten the soda and continue to add moisture as it dries.

Pineapple juice and honey make a fine cough syrup and one which the whole people will not refuse.

If a fish bone or any sharp substance is swallowed, swallow the white of an egg immediately; this coats over the sharp edges and protects the stomach and intestines.

A hot raisin with a grain or two of red pepper wrapped in it is good for a toothache or an earache.

Put a little lemon or orange juice in the spoon before filling with castile oil. It will go down with less protest.

Use popped corn instead of croutons with the tomato soup, then save wheat and giving your family a treat at the same time.

A little vinegar put on the hands will soften them when roughened by work or wind.

Relatives from Saugerties have been visiting D. E. Schoonmaker and family.

Only the fact that the car was running very slowly averted what would have been a most dreadful automobile accident at the highway bridge Saturday afternoon. H. B. Swoope, the 2d, and family of Madeira, Pa., who were enjoying a tour in their Packard car, were traveling on the state road toward Kingston. On making the curve near the bridge they evidently thought their road led across the bridge but not noticing the sign slowed up but could not get back on the state road and instead plunged into the railing along side the bridge. Though the railing was smashed the car was halted before going through. This was most fortunate since beyond the railing there is a sheer drop of many feet to the rocks on the edge of the Rondout. Some tank blocks were secured and many hands joined in pulling the car back in the road. The car did not seem to be damaged, so after rewarding those who assisted them, the party continued on their journey. This makes the third or fourth accident that has occurred at almost exactly the same place in each instance.

REVOLUTIONARIES KILLED MIRBACH

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Basle, July 9.—Martial law has been proclaimed in Moscow.
Advices received here today stated the Russian secret revolutionaries have confessed the plot to murder Count Von Mirbach, the German ambassador to Russia, in order to annul the Brest-Litovsk treaty.

The assassination of Count Von Mirbach was the signal for an uprising in Moscow but the Bolshevik government claims to have put it down.

Recent Wants Private Bath.

Camp Lewis, Wash., July 9.—"Where can I find a good apartment with private bath near here?" asked a new Idaho select service man of Lieutenant C. S. Reed. "I want it near enough so that I can go back and forth to drill."

"Run along with the rest of the boys and you'll find one with eight shower baths, two tubs and plenty of ventilation," the officer answered. "And you'll be called in plenty of time for drill every morning."

STROEBELL WOULD OUST WAR PARTY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Zurich, July 9.—The Germans are having their eyes opened as to America's part in the war. Advices from Berlin today quoted Deputy Stroebell as saying in the Prussian Kantag: "It is the idea of the German government to crush her adversaries under heel like Serbia, Belgium and Russia. It is impossible to impose peace, but the spring offensive was unsuccessful, costing more than 1,000,000 men. There are now 900,000 Americans in France, enough to offset all the Allied losses. Minister of Finance Herzog said that Americans would not arrive because they could not swim or fly. The government proved a bad prophet, however, as hundreds of thousands are now here. Millions will arrive unless the German people oust the devilish war politicians."

CLERMONT IN MOVIES AT KINGSTON POINT

Replica of Fulton's Famous Steamboat May Be Used in Making Historical Film Showing Growth of Navigation From Indian Canoe to Washington Irving.

This morning a representative of a movie concern was at Kingston Point looking over the replica of the famous Clermont, the steamboat built by Robert Fulton, to see if it could be floated and used in making a historical film showing the growth of navigation from the time of the Indian canoe to the Washington Irving, the palatial steamer of the Hudson River Day Line.

During the famous Hudson-Fulton celebration this replica of the Clermont was built and sailed up and down the river, carrying the same trip as that made by the original steamboat. Still later it was used for exhibition purposes and about three years ago the Hudson River Day Line had the Clermont towed up from Newburgh and placed in the lagoon at Kingston Point Park where it has since remained.

During the past three years that the Clermont has lain in the lagoon it has had her hull filled with water every time the tide changed, and Captain Hage of the tug boat has grave doubts if her engine will turn over unless repairs are made. Other rivermen are of the same opinion and state that the hull would have to be recut.

It is said that the movie concern have permission of President Okell of the Day Line to use the Clermont if she can be gotten out in the river. Just what will be the outcome of the effort to Kingston Point is not known, but if the Clermont is filmed it will mean that likely a number of views will be taken in this vicinity.

FIVE BILLION YEARLY. Revenue Will Be Needed For Government Expenses at End of War.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—Five billion dollars a year in revenue will be needed by the United States government at the close of the war to pay interest on bonds and for the expenses of the government. This was the prediction of Henry T. Rainey, ranking Democrat on the ways and means committee, after a preliminary conference of the committee on the new revenue bill today. The bill will be drawn with an eye to the future. Many of the taxes written into it will continue for some years after the war has ended.

The principal sources will be income, excess profits and luxuries. Luxury and excess profits taxes will have to be reduced after the war but the losses from these sources will be made up by increases in tariff. Increased tariff rates in the present bill has met with no favor in the committee. Neither have any of the novelty revenue suggestions put forward by amateur economists.

SULPHUR CONTROL. Government Takes Over Industry Necessary to War.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 9.—The sulphur industry of the country today passed into government control. The production and distribution of the mineral, with their approval, will be administered by the war industries board.

The action was necessitated by increased war demands for sulphur as an ingredient in explosives and by the increased burdens on the rail and water systems in the transportation of war materials.

William G. Woolfolk, chief of the section of the war industries board in charge of the sulphur and nitrates, will act for the government.

Caterpillars of Plenty.

This year France can count on a harvest larger than any since 1913. That of England should be the greatest in the history of British agriculture. Both have had such draughts on their man power as were never known before. How have they done it? One answer lies in the American tractor. In England raiding Zeppelins have had a chance to stare down through the moonlight at what looked like batteries of howitzers moving on echelon across upland and meadow. They were howitzers, which were kept moving day and night. Five hundred English women were the artillery drivers, and on a thousand country estates these range plow howitzers were turning the sod within a dozen feet of the mansion door. In France they operated often enough within sight and sound of shell fire. And as they gave back the land by the thousands acres to wheat and barley and sugar beet, one ancient French peasant seeing a line of them crawling through the dusk lifted up his hands and said, "Vive l'Amérique! One would say caterpillars of plenty."

WERBALOWSKY MUST GIVE WIFE MORE

Judge Seeger Orders an Increase of $3 in Weekly Alimony and $30 Counsel Fee in Newburgh on Saturday.

Jacob Werbalowsky, a wandering peddler who covers Delaware and Sullivan counties, and the southern part of Ulster county, will have to pay his wife $9 a week alimony, and his lawyer, N. H. Fessenden, of Kingston, $30 additional counsel fee, according to an order issued by Judge Seeger at special term here Saturday.

Werbalowsky was convicted in recorder's court in Kingston last May as a disorderly person in failing to support his wife, Dora, and their children, who reside at 69 West Union street in that city, and was required to give a bond to pay over $6 a week. Two of the three children are minors—Manuel, aged 16, and Sophie, aged 12. The third, a son, aged 22, is a peddler, like his father, but is sickly, and is able to contribute but little to his mother's support.

Three or four months prior to his arrest, according to Attorney Fessenden, the wife was assaulted by her husband, who cut her on the hands and in the neck so severely that she was in the hospital for some time as a result. Last June she brought suit for a separation on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment and counsel fees before Justice Alden Chester in Albany the allowance of $6 a week was continued and a counsel fee of $75 was ordered.

Werbalowsky paid the $5 a week, but as he had no fixed abode, the lawyer had difficulty in locating him for service of the order to pay the $75 counsel fee. He was finally adjudged guilty of contempt of court, and when he learned that the sheriff of Ulster, Sullivan and Delaware counties were after him, he came across with the cash.

Meanwhile the answer in the wife's suit was filed and in it he accused her of adultery. Efforts to obtain a bill of particulars have thus far failed. The husband continued to pay the $6 a week alimony until June 10 last, exactly the expiration of the statutory year during which Justice Chester's order was effective. Then he stopped. Mr. Fessenden says the defendant's income, averages $25 to $30 a week.

Justice Seeger increased the alimony $3 a week, and in view of Werbalowsky's accusation against his wife, granted $50 additional counsel fee. No opposition was made to the motion Saturday. Frank W. Brooks of Kingston is attorney for the husband.

A Busy Pastor.

Cedar, Kan., July 9.—Elder M. J. Hibbs, pastor of the Christian Church here, claims the Kansas championship for busy men. In addition to being pastor of the church, publisher of the Cedar Headlight, the local weekly paper, and manager of the local lumber yards, he finds time to devote to the raising of goats. He has an extensive herd of nanny goats. He is head of the local schools, teaches for nine months in the year and found time to help harvest this country.

RED MONOGRAMS WIN FIRST GAME

Twilight League Season Opened
Monday Evening at 7 O'clock at McVey's Field—Freeman Plays Holy Name Tonight.

The Twilight Baseball League season was opened Monday evening at McVey's Field when the Red Monograms defeated the U. A. D. Shops by a score of 15 to 2. The game was one sided to be interesting, but the shopmen will undoubtedly play better ball later when their baseball machine gets running smoothly. R. Williams and F. Brown were in the lineup for the shopmen, while J. Spelt and C. Westfall were in the lineup for the Monograms. Arthur Rice umpired and Nicholas F. Bane of the Playground Association was the official scorer.

This evening at 7 o'clock at McVey's Field, The Freeman Publishing Company team will clash with St. Joseph's Holy Name Society team.

PORT EWEN.
Port Ewen, July 9.—A business meeting and social hour of the Epworth League Society will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Methodist Chapel. A large attendance is desired. Letters from soldiers will be read and a pleasant evening is assured.

Miss Theora Barrenger of Kingston was the guest of the Misses Jane and Helen Schreyer of Broadway Sunday.

Miss Anna Horton and Miss M. Louise Sleight of Broadway went to New York city on business Monday.

The little girls who take part in the folk game entertainment will kindly be at the Methodist Chapel on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Miss Pace will be in attendance. All mothers will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the chapel.

Miss Page will be present.

There will be a meeting of the Red Cross Society at Firemen's Hall on Wednesday afternoon, July 10, at 2 o'clock. All members of the auxiliary are urged to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howe of Wilson had offered America with its main street and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tronson of Kingston enjoyed a motor trip to Orange Lake Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Roosa of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Short on Main street Sunday.

Praised the Firemen.
Former Sheriff Shultis spoke in complimentary terms of the quick response and the efficient work of the firemen at the fire Saturday evening at the ice house on South Pine street.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Loafers in Kingston Are All Working. Some in Town and Some South—Hard to Get Able Bodied Men for City Work.

The state loafer law went into effect the first of July, and so far in Kingston no arrests have been made under the law. The reason for that is simple. All the loafers listed by the police department have been reported as having gone to work. Many are working out of town while others have secured jobs at home.

Never in the history of Kingston have able bodied men, willing to work, been able to obtain the wages that are paid working men at the present time. The water department has not planned to lay any pipe this season it is said, due to the fact that it is impossible to get enough men to carry on the work. It might also be added that pipe has jumped in price.

The street department is also up against it as far as getting able bodied men is concerned. The board of public works at a recent meeting directed Superintendent Van Keuren to repair Hasbrouck avenue hill as soon as possible. Mr. Van Keuren is soiling and anxious to get that hill in shape. But owing to the lack of men has not been able to get around as yet. The hill will be placed in shape just as soon as Superintendent Van Keuren can reach it.

East Union street, between Broadway and Hasbrouck avenue, is being gotten ready for Willie.

Superintendent Van Keuren has some men busy patching up Flatbush avenue and placing it in shape.

There were no cases in police court today, and no arrests were made during the night by the police department.

Since the loafer law went into effect there has been a dropping off in the number of lodgers at the city hall lockup. There is only one regular. He works during the day about town at odd jobs.

Monday three cases of measles were reported to the health board.

The health board will meet Wednesday evening instead of tonight as expected.

Cards for the women aliens who registered at police headquarters may now be obtained. Those who registered must call at police headquarters and secure their cards before Saturday.

THE ACID TEST.

Being the Story of a Man Who Persisted.

I am going to call him First Lieut. Williams, of the Aviation Corps, because that isn't his name and he deserves more than anything else not to be advertised. His hair is perfectly gray, but he carries himself with military precision and obeys his superior officers as well as he himself was obeyed during those years when he was boss of many thousands of workmen in one of America's greatest public-service corporations.

And this is how First Lieut. Williams, an old man to be starting on his military career, is taking orders today and feeling like a young man again.

For about a month after President Wilson had offered America with its freedom and democracy Mr. Williams sat at his desk in a tall skyscraper and envied the young fellows whom he saw docking toward the training camp. Finally he decided he had done enough sitting around, getting his ideas of war out of the news-papers.

"Charley," he said to his business partner one morning, "All your sons have gone into the service and you've done your share. But I haven't got any boys to offer to my country."

Therefore it's up to me. I'm going to enlist.

"You can't enlist as a major general," laughed his partner, "and you're too old and too important to be a private."

"I'm neither," hotly replied Mr. Williams. "I'm going to war to fight, and as long as I can beat half my physical examinations."

Mr. Williams' first experience at the recruiting stations, however, showed that his partner was right. After an army doctor had gotten through with him he went away feeling like a chronic invalid. However, he submitted himself to two or three minor surgical examinations, applied again, was rejected, went the rounds of army, navy and marines, and at last found himself hopelessly outside the circle, where wealth and success count for nothing against the splendid claims of youth.

He went back to his desk, grinning sheepishly when his partner was unkind enough to say, "I told you so." But two weeks later, when he appeared in the uniform of the Aviation Corps and showed the little silver bar on his shoulder, it was time for First Lieut. Williams to boast.

"I found they wanted experienced business men as ground officers to manage the flying camps," he explained. "They wouldn't take me as a private, so I decided to become an officer."

Ours is a true army of democracy. I know of a prosperous corporation lawyer who recently enlisted in the navy and found that the petty officer over him was one Sweeney, whom he had recently employed as chauffeur. The lawyer's wife decided to give her sailor husband a reception on his first day of leave. But early on the appointed afternoon there came a ring at the telephone.

"This is Bob," came the voice of the beloved recruit. "I can't be home, dear. I'm scrubbing the mess hall and Sweeney won't let me go."

Sweeney may never rise to the ward room; his ex-employer may

"Keep Your Head Down Fritzie Boy!"

Lieut. Gitz-Rice, who has gone through many battles, wrote both words and music of this humorous banter, so characteristic of the fighting men. It is expressively sung by the American Quartet.

"What Are You Going to Do to Help the Boys?" is another popular melody with a ringing appeal. Charles Hart and the Shannon Four sing it. Both songs on one record.
